REES PLANS WILL NOT HINDER

Official Says He Will Not Go Counter to City's Wishes.

Does Not Say He Is in Favor of Oakland's Idea, However.

Col Thomas H. Rees assured representatives of Oakland yesterday that he would not recommend against the wishes of this city when he goes to Washington D C with his plan of harbor development Col Rees would not state that he would not present his plan as it now stands but he gave informal assurance that he would not urge that the plans of Oakland should be overridden in favor of his plan

Col Rees asked that a definite expression of the views of Oakland as to what is best for the city in the way of modifying the harbor plan should be passed in the form of a resolution by the city council to be forwarded with his recommendations to Washington He did not declare that he would favor Oakland's suggestion, but indicated that if the recommendation from this city was reasonable he would give it his tentative approval

The city council will take up the harbor plans as a special order of business early next week, and representative civic bodies will be asked to send delegates to the meeting to discuss the matter preparatory to the passage of a resolution giving the attitude of Oakland on the general plan of harbor development from Oakland to Point Richmond as presented by Col Rees At the meeting such a resolution will be prepared and voted upon

DISCUSSED INFORMALLY

The matter was discussed in an informal way at a conference of the engineers and representatives of the east bay cities held with Col Rees in the San Francisco Customs House yesterday afternoon City Attorney Ben

WOMEN ON RECORD FOR FEWER SALOON LICENSES

The following resolutions were passed at a mass meeting of women of the neighborhood of the Washington public school, Oakland, and of the district embraced by the Santa Fe Improvement Associatin:

Wheras, the others of the Washington school district of Oakland, like the Santa Fe Improvement Association, have always stood for better conditions in the larger home, namely, the community, and for such conditions as will make it easier for our sons and daughters to do what is right and harder for the mto do what is wrong; therefore be it

RICH MEN ACCUSED BY GIRL

Police Finally Locate Carol Mason, Who Was Missing.

Realty Broker and Auto Dealer Arrested; More May Follow.

LOS ANGELES, Aug 16—More arrests were expected today to result from the story told the police yesterday by Carol Mason, a fifteen-year-old moving picture actress who was located in a boarding house at Hawthorne, a suburb, after she had been missing 10 days from the home of her mother, Mrs Minnie Mason, a modiste

After the girl who had dyed her hair a rich auburn, had been found by detectives, she related a tale which resulted in the speedy arrests of Henry W Haskamp, a realty operator of Los Angeles who was said to be a son of Herman Haskamp, a millionaire lumberman of Prince Rupert B C, and Robert W Burton an automobile dealer of Los Angeles. It was charged they had contributed to the girl's delinquency

The girl, according to the officers gave them the names of several men who had visited her, among them being a physician.

Investigation conducted by the police and a humane officer, tending to show that the girl had been kidraped and held captive in a house in Hawthorne, a suburb, was modified somewhat by the girl's own story told last night She declared she had left home willingly and had not been forced to remain away She told however of her relations with Haskamp and Burton according to the police and that she had been operated on by a certain physician who was sought with still other suspects mentioned in the case

Mrs Minnie Mason was confronted at the police station by a daughter she hardly recognized The girl who had been a dark brunette had become a pronounced blonde The dye was used she asserted with her consent Mrs Burton said her daughter had been misisng since August 5

BERLIN Aug 16 — The German government toda decided to refuse to participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915

The German government however will be represented worthily at the ceremony of the opening of the Panama Canal, according to a semi official announcement. The Nord Deutsche Allegemein Zeitung, the government organ, says "The invitation to participate in the Panama Pacific Exposition was declined by the German government after inquiry had shown that an overwhelming majority in industrial and business circles in Germany could see no benefit accruing from representation The government investigated thorough, and sympathetically and reached its decision not to participate with the greatest reluctance In view of the good political business and cultural relations between Germany and the United States and the German desire to cultivate and develop them, the German government would gladly, as at Chicago and St Louis have given the American government fresh proof of its sympathy and friendship by acceptance.

WON'T GIVE UP HIS RIGHT

Answers Sulzer Tersely Refusing to Arbitrate Difficulty.

Lieut. Governor of New York Won't Appeal to Court.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—All negotiations toward having the courts decide who is the governor of New York were declared off today. For the third consecutive day William Sulzer, the impeached governor, and Martin H. Glynn, who was elected lieutenant governor, occupied office in the capitol, each claiming to be the chief executive.

Indications were that the deadlock would last until the meeting of the Legislature next Tuesday if not longer Neither claimant had offered to interefere in any way with the other

Each seemed to be marking time, waiting for the other to take the offensive

The proposal of William Sulzer the impeached governor [illegible] rival, through their lawyers, place their respective claims before the courts for speedy settlement came to grief last night Lieutenant-Goverror Glynn, who claims that he is acting governor by virtue of Sulzer's impeachment notified Sulzer that he had no intention of asking any court save the court for the trial of impeachment to decide the question

Glynn's refusal places the entire situation at sea again His refusal to arbitrate was a distinct surprise to Sulzer's friends

GLYNN'S REPLY

"It is beyond my power to barter away any of the functions attached to the office in which I am placed by your impeachment," reads Glynn's reply to Sulzer's suggestion. Any attempt on my part to do so or to stipulate a method by which it might be done would properly place me in the position you now occupy—that of being impeached for [illegible] in office I cannot and will not attempt to do it.

"I hold myself in readiness to perform and shall perform every function of the office of governor except insofar as I am restrained by your illegal action or by physical force."

No one was willing to forecast this morning what the day would bring forth

Among the reports current was one that Glynn expected to go in person to the executive chamber and attempt to perform the duties of the governor Sulzer asserted that he did not intend to relinquish any of the rights of the governorship

The words "physical force" were brought into the controversy for the first time by Glynn's letter

MRS SULZER'S CONDITION

Last night was the worst passed by Mrs Sulzer since she became ill of a nervous disorder several days ago but her condition this morning was less alarming according to bulletins issued by the attending physicians

A bulletin prepared by Dr Abrahams, a New York specialist says

"I arrived at the bedside at 1 o'clock this morning Mrs Sulzer's condition was as follows Temperature and pulse increasing she complains of headache and mental depression and had two fainting spells She sleeps restlessly and the little sleep was increased by sedatives"

The breach between Sulzer and Glynn is complete and there [illegible] no further conference between their counsel, so far as now known on the question of submitting the controversity to the courts D Cady Herrick, Sulzer's chief counsel is so announcing today he did not expect to make any plans of lawyers for the impeached executive

"We are preparing our case for trial" Herrick said Interviewers asked Herrick what the next move would be "I don't know that there will be a next move" he replied

CLUB WOMEN WANT FEWER SALOONS

Liquor Traffic and Reduction of Permits Discussed at Meeting.

That the liquor traffic is responsible for [illegible] of the members of the Washington School Mothers' Club, who held a special meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Christopher Ruess, 833 Fifty-seventh street. The session was called to order by Mrs. Christopher Ruess and it was presided over by Mrs. William Thornton Blackburn, past president of the club, who was appointed chairman. Women who have been interested in the welfare of the boys and girls of this city voiced their sentiment against the number of saloons and pledged their support to the movement. Enthusiasm in the project to do away with half of the saloons was manifested by the women, who declared that they will do all in their power to aid in the reform movement.

REAL ROOT OF EVIL.

Miss Blanch Morse of Berkeley, who was one of the leaders in the recent suffrage campaign and one of the lobbyists representing the Collegiate Alumni Association at the last session of the legislature, was the speaker of the afternoon. She said

"It is not the love of money that is the root of all evil, but the liquor traffic, which is responsible for not only moral degeneracy, but also for poverty. All that is degrading perhaps does not begin at the saloons, but it is fostered by them. We are subscribing to immorality instead of morality, when we stand for the saloon, which is supposed to be a financial benefit to the community. It's an awful indictment against this city to countenance an enterprise of immorality which, through its sordid means, increases the treasury. Our systems become shocked when we learn of the conditions now existing, where the saloons and cafes are open all day and the greater part o fthe night. We can attack the cafe and the saloon now. This is one phase of a big question.

NEED ENFORCEMNT.

"It I snot legislation that we need, but the enforcement of the present laws. The saloon interests are always urging their claims upon the city fathers and the better class of people who are the proprietors of leading establishments here [illegible] to the saloon movement instead of presenting their requirements and side-tracking the liquor man's 'trays.' If one of the better classes enforces his rights the saloons will soon be crowded out."

Mrs. William Thornton Blackburn protested against the number of saloons in West Oakland and declared that there was no reason why they should so thickly populate that district of the city.

Mrs. Christopher Ruess stated that there is much temptation for the poor man to enter the saloon and pass an evening there. Both Mrs. Blackburn and Mrs. Ruess favored the removal of half of the saloons in Oakland.

The representatives of the Washington School Mothers' Club and interested civic workers who attended the meeting were Mrs. Eanor Deverel, Mrs. Arthur Mock, Mrs. W. W. [illegible] Mrs. F. C. Nelson, Mrs. Seth Harvey, Mrs. W. B. Burroughs, Mrs. J. W. Wissart, Mrs. E. H. Tickle and Mrs. William Thornton Blackburn.

LURE OF GAMES IS STRONGER THAN CONFUCIUS

Tom Toms of Joss Not so Enticing as the "Bones."

Hom Guy Takes Father's Coin and Emulates Young Masters.

That the lure of games of chance in Oakland is far-reaching and that it is equally effective in its results among Chinese youths as their Caucasion brethren was demonstrated yesterday afternoon before Superior Judge Ogden in the juvenile court when the authorities [illegible] that of young Ward Masters in the predicament of Hom Guy, 14-year-old son of Hom Dock Quan, a local Chinese merchant.

Hom Guy embezzled $75 which he collected from his father's tenants at 333 Ninth street. Then he disappeared from home and for three months led a riotous career among the gaming halls in the Chinese quarter. On complaint of his father the lad was taken into custody [illegible] a quandary how to solve the problem before them.

Asked to give an accounting of the places in which he was permitted to squander his ill-gotten coin, Hom Guy demurred on the grounds that he "would get into trouble if he told."

SHOULD BE PUNISHED.

"I think that the men who took his money contributed to the boy's delinquency and that we ought to make an effort to punish them," volunteered Probation Officer Ollie Snediger.

Hom Guy said that he could point out the places that he visited and his father also said that he was familiar with several of the resorts, adding he had warned several of the gamblers not to let the boy play in the games.

"I have had a great deal of experience in these Chinese cases and I know that they are very difficult of solution," said Judge Ogden.

"Since the days of Confucius gambling has been a part of a Chinaman's recreation. They gamble for the same reason that we go to the theater and think nothing of it. It is not a sin with them, only part of their makeup.

TOO MUCH FOR OFFICER.

"I would be very glad to get to the bottom of this case, but it would take a small army of policemen to break up Chinese gambling and the force of the probation officer would be but a handful. If the boy could be induced to accompany a policeman and point out the places and men with whom he gambled, we might do something."

But Hom Guy was obdurate on that point, and the matter was continued for further investigation.

In the case of Ward Masters it was also shown that his parents had warned the gamblers. Young Masters embezzled money from his employer and spent it over the gaming tables on Twenty-third avenue, College avenue and at Jack Heaney's saloon on Broadway. The grand jury will investigate his case next week and it is possible that the phase of Chinese gambling will also be looked into

REES WILL GIVE CITY A HEARING

Harbor Plans as Outlined Will Meet With Consideration.

Edward M. Boggs, assistant general manager of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways, represented that concern at the meeting, and set forth the position of the Oakland Terminals in regard to the Rees plans for the Key Route basin, which conflict strikingly with the plans of the corporation which had been agreed upon with the city of Oakland before the Rees plan was devised.

"We made our plans after obtaining our branchises from the city of Oakland," said Boggs, "and we made them in good faith. We have expended money and time in preparing for these great improvements. We consider that the terminals concern merits consideration in this matter, and that we should be allowed to go forward in the big improvements projected.

MUCH AT STAKE.

"To adopt these plans as they now stand would mean great loss of money, and great inconvenience to the traveling public through the interruption of the service necessitated by such an extraordinary and radical change in the plans. It would also mean excessive loss of time fro mthe change of plans."

Engineer Percy Haviland represented Richmond at the conference.

Col. Rees states that he took the view that the plans of the Oakland Terminals must be thought of as inconsiderable in importance as compared with the larger plans for the benefit of the whole east bay waterfront. He asked for an expression of views on the matter.

SHOWERS PARTLY RELIEVE DROUGHT

Rains Not General Enough to Completely Remedy the Situation.

Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, but the rains were far from general and in most instances inadequate. In one section it is said only a 24-hour "soaking" rain can alleviate entirely hardships incident to drought. Where wells and streams are dry a heavy precipitation is regarded necessary to replace the exhausted water supply.

Temperatures that for 12 days have hovered above the 100 mark fell today in Southern Kansas and Northern Oklahoma because of showers and clouds, but, according to the United States weather bureau, here there [illegible] extreme heat generally over Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

RELIEF THROUGH SHOWERS.

Arkansas City, Kas., reported heavy rain falling this morning [illegible] wide section of Southern Kansas. Northern Oklahoma has attained great relief through showers that began yesterday afternoon and continued today.

Light showers fell in this city yesterday in the midst of [illegible] sunshine, [illegible] the cooling of the atmosphere and burning pavements. Hundreds of children and, in many cases, their parents rushed into the street and stood in the rain.

Drought in Northern and Eastern Kansas and most of Missouri continued unabated. Springfield, Mo., which has had less than half its normal rainfall since April 1, faced a possibility of a failure of its water supply. In practically all the Springfield churches, by agreement, prayers for rain will be offered at 4:30 this afternoon.

NEED OF WATER.

In Southeastern Kansas and Southwestern Missouri many mining towns still are suffering from want of water. Pittsburg, Kas., and Joplin, Mo., are supplying many of these points with water shiped in tank trains.

St. Joseph reported increasing damage to fruit from drought. Topeka suffered the twelfth hot night, during which the minimum temperature has exceeded 75.

Wichita, Kas., reported showers after an oppressively hot night. The heat through the night was so stifling that few attempted to sleep indoors.

Hand-picked catfish are being enjoyed by persons in eastern Jackson county. Most of the streams have shrunk to standing pools. Experienced fishermen do not hesitate to wade into these pools, feel under the edges of the rocks and capture the fish in their hands. Oak Grove reported the capture of a 30-pound "cat" in this manner yesterday.

The ideal weather conditions which have made California pleasure ground for the country and which, in the absence of excessive heat have resulted in a record, and pleasant conditions for August will continue tonight and tomorrow. This applies to the entire state and the highest temperature recorded was 84 degrees in the Sacramento valley. The pressure has risen rapidly in the British possession and the plane states, causing fair weather over the country east of the Mississippi. A rainfall of 1.78 is reported from Tampa, Fla., and it was quite warm in the Middle West. The Atlantic seaboard is basking in some of the most pleasant weather enjoyed in many years. New York registered 76 degrees, Boston 76, Buffalo 82, Chicago 86, New Orleans 90, St. Louis 98, Kansas City 100, Des Moines 100, Salt Lake City 84.

FOREST SERVICE KEEPS FIRE LOSS AT MINIMUM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Reports to the forest service yesterday from all of the national forests in the west indicated that favorable weather and active patrolling were keeping fire losses down to a minimum. This week 125 small fires started as against 200 last week, and all but sixteen of these were put out without damage. The total timber loss was only $190. Forest officers are hopeful for a year of light fire losses, although they remember that September is usually the disastrous month.

CAMERA MAN IS STRUCK BY DIGGS

cynosure of all eyes as they sat in the courtroom and considerable interest was aroused by their presence.

When the case was continued yesterday the defense had had only a few moments to present evidence. I. P. Diggs, father of the defendant, was the only important witness called by them. As their intention is to call both Diggs and Caminetti from interesting and lively testimony as well as caustic exchanges between counsel may be looked for.

The closing of this second week of the trial finds the prosecutions somewhat ahead by reason of the damaging statements made by the two Sacramento [illegible] of complaining witnesses. As favorable as was the impression created by Marsha Warrington, who was Diggs' favorite, Lola Norris proved by far the better witness and her story of final surrender to the wiles and blandishment of Drew Caminetti, son of Immigration Commissioner Caminetti, was one which attracted by reason of the ring of sincerity which could plainly be observed throughout.

COVERS ALL POINTS

The prosecution has covered all of the different points in the indictment and according to Attorney Theodore Roche they anticipate a verdict against the defendant. They have shown that Diggs purchased a ticket for Nevada for the party; that the four went to Reno; and that all sustained improper relations. It is claimed that this is sufficient but the defense will argue that all went of their own accord, that there was no intention of leaving the state and that Reno was selected as an after thought, very much at random.

By reason of the limited capacity of the court room but few persons have been able to listen to the trial and the publicity given it has attracted thousands who were turned away disappointed.

POSTAL INSPECTOR TO GET EVIDENCE

The Government Sends Man to Panama to Look Up Lyman's Record.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—To obtain evidence for the government against Dr. John Grant Lyman, former head of the Panama Development Company, and now in jail here awaiting trial in the federal court on a charge of having used the mails to defraud, C. E. Webster, a post-office inspector left Los Angeles today for Panama City, Panama. Inspector Webster said he would be away six weeks, during which period he expected to search official documents of the Republic of Panama to find records which Lyman planned to introduce as evidence in his own behalf. The principal search will be for records relating to the so-called Agua Dulce tract, which the Panama Development Company was said to have been selling at the time of Lyman's indictment. Federal officials expressed doubt that there was such a tract.

GOVERNOR TRIES TO AVERT STRIKE

Twenty Thousand Men May Be Involved if Walkout Occurs.

DENVER, Aug. 15. — Governor Ammons prepared today to exert all the influence of the state administration to avert the threatened strike of coal miners in Colorado, New Mexico and Utah. He ordered Edward Brake, deputy state labor commissioner, to visit the Southern Colorado field, the center of trouble, at once and make a report of the exact conditions there. Frank J. Hayes, international vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America, who is in Denver today, declares he has full authority to call a strike if the conditions warrant it. Recognition of the union Hayes declared, would be insisted upon by the miners.

The mine workers' vice-president said today that the strike, if called, will affect 20,000 men in district 15, comprising Colorado, Utah and New Mexico.

MOVIES WILL AID TO SEEK THE LOST

PORTLAND, Aug. 16.—Moving picture shows will hereafter co-operate with police officials in tracing lost persons by throwing the pictures on the screen with the query underneath: "Have you seen this girl?"—or child or whoever it happens to be. The suggestion has been made by Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, of the department of public safety for young women, who has been searching for Alice Twombley of Hillsboro, who dropped out of sight several weeks ago. The number of missing persons reported to the police averages three a day.

SMITH HELD ON TWO ASSAULT COMPLAINTS

John Smith, employed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was held to answer on two charges of assault with a deadly weapon before Judge Samuels this morning on the complaints of Samuel Voorhees and C. Bonds on the two charges aggregated $1500.

MRS. SPRECKELS ON FLYING TRIP

Hasn't Left Town, But Simply Aviated With Allan Lougheed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Mrs. John D. Spreckels Jr. has taken to aviation and is an enthusiastic admirer of the dangerous sport.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Spjreckels ascended from the foot of Laguna street with Aviator Allan Lougheed, in the latter's machine, and stayed in the air for half an hour. Soaring to a height of 300 feet, the machine circled Alcatraz Island, then swerved and passed over the ferry slips, returning to the starting point.

"It was delightful," said Mrs. Spreckels after she had alighted safely and had being congratulated by a number of waiting friends. "I felt as if I were a part of the machine itself. I didn't have the slightest fear in the world. I was just [illegible] the people hundreds of feet beneath me. They appeared as mere specks and the buildings looked more like doll houses than anything else.

"It seemed strange and hard to realize that I was so high in the air. I am going to make another trip very soon."

Shortly after the flight was begun the airship passed over the liner Siberia, which had just enetred the harbor and was anchored off the immigration station. Aviator Lougheed flew around the vessel, causing considerable excitement among the passengers.

Mrs. Spreckels' trip was arranged for her by Ferdinand Theriot, a prominent society man and member of the University club, who is a pupil of Lougheed's. He has been an enthusiastic student of aviation for a little over a month, and expects soon to follow the example of Adolph G. Sutro, and purchase a machine of his own.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC DECLARED GUILTY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Officials of the Pacific Electric railway company were held responsible for the wreck which occurred at Vineyard station, near Los Angeles, July 13, by the state railroad commission, which handed down an opinion yesterday and accompanied it with an order demanding that the railroad company take steps to change its system materially to safeguard the lives of passengers.

The commission held that incompetency on the part of employes operating the train was responsible for the wreck which cost sixteen lives and injured a great many more.

"While we are reluctant to place the blame for the resulting tragedy, we feel it our duty to say that the collision resulted from the incompetence of these trainmen, the underlying cause of which incompetence appears to be insufficient instruction, training and examination given these men by officials of the company," says the opinion.

Miss E. Granville Is Bride-to-Be
Frank McDonald a Happy Groom

Engagement Given Out, Wedding Set for August 17

Following in the footsteps of her girl friend, Miss Mercedes Sarsfield, now Mrs. Victor Palmer, a bride of the week, Miss Elva Granville, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer of this city, has announced her engagement to Frank Macdonald of San Francisco as well as the date for her wedding, August 17. Whether Miss Granville will use a woman's privilege and change her mind to an earlier date remains to be seen. So far the plans are for a simple pretty home wedding to be solemnized at the home of the bride's mother in Twentieth street, Sunday afternoon in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Father Doyle of St. Anthony's church will read the marriage service. Miss Angela Sarsfield will attend the bride. [illegible] Keele will be groomsman.

Miss Granville is well known in local society and is a graduate of the College of Notre Dame at San Jose. She is attractive as well as accomplished in music and art. The couple will make their home in San Francisco, where McDonald is connected with the First National Bank. Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom will leave for Southern California, where they will spend their honeymoon.

MISS ELVA GRANVILLE.

THIS ISN'T A JAIL; IT'S MORE LIKE A NEW GARDEN OF EDEN

MELROSE, Aug. 16.—Members of the Melrose police force could get jobs as landscape gardeners any day. The beautification campaign, led by the police, has made them adepts at laying out gardens to the best advantage, and they have applied their knowledge to turning the ground round the police station into a trim flower garden. The interior of the office is also fragrant with flowers, and a clever invention, the work of Chauffeer and Handyman Frank Anderson, will transform Captain Brown's room into a bower of plants and flowers. Anderson has just completed the construction of a large and unique flower stand, standing almost the height of the room. At the foot of the stand is a receptacle to hold the roots of a clinging vine, which will climb up the stand round the tree limb arms which branch from the stand. The extremity of these limbs will hold pots of flowers hidden by vines and plants. the big stand will resemble a tree, and should make a beautiful ornament.

STANDARD OIL CO. WON'T FIGHT LAW

Pipe Lines Will Be Common Carriers Per Legislative Ruling.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—By its action of filing with the state railroad commission yesterday its tentative rates for transportation of oil from the fields to the coast through its pipe lines, the Standard Oil company of California practically declared that it will make no move against the act passed by the last legislature making of pipe lines common carriers. Such action by the largest oil corporation in the state makes possible without delay the operation of the new law, and removes the probability of any action to test the constitutionality of the measure. It was to the Standard that the other pipe line companies looked to take the initiative in the opposition, and now that the Standard has decided to bow to the will of the people any contest over the legality of the act is very improbable.

The tentative rates filed by the Standard with the commission between the various fields and terminals and the minimum gravity allowed are as follows.

TABLE OF TENTATIVE RATES.

From—	Minimum Gravity.	Cts. Per 42 gals.
Signa station to Richmond	15	35
Midway station to Richmond	15	35
Lost Hills to Richmond	18	35
Wait (Kern) to Richmond	15	35
Coalinga to Richmond	18	35
Northam to Segundo	18	8
Orcutt to Port San Luis	18	10
Pico Canyon to Ventura	22	18

Oil is to be transported only in lots of 100,000 barrels or over, according to the regulations which the Standard hopes will be approved. These rates and regulations have been sent to the various stations, and the company is already willing to accept oil for transportation through its pipe lines.

NORMAN HAPGOOD WILL FEMINIZE "HARPER'S"

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. — Norman Hapgood took over Harper's Weekly today and transformed it so that George Brinton McClellan Harvey and the shade of George William Curtis wouldn't know it on the street. Hapgood proposed to make the paper the "official organ of the feminist movement," heretofore known as the "Journal of Civilization."

"The new position of women in the world," says Hapgood in an article on 'What Women Want.' "Means that the intellectual and moral standards of civilization are to be changed. They are no longer to be the expression of one sex slightly influenced by the other. They are to be the composite ideas of the two, not the two acting separately, but of the two as each will be modified by the other as they come into a fairer, fuller and more equal communication.

"The changing view of what needs to be done in industry already is partly due to women, and will be much more due to them as the moral and human side of industry passes more and more into their hands."

I. W. W.'S LEAVE MINOT.

MINOT, N. D., Aug. 16.—A general exodus of the I. W. W. is in progress and officials today believe there will be no further serious trouble in connection with the activities of the workers, whose attempts to hold street meetings have resulted in riots and in many arrests.

CROP NEWS WIPED OUT MARKET RISE

Week's Summary Shows Three Days of Gain Followed by Decline.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Three days of successive gains and active trading, followed by two sessions of less active trading at declining prices, summarizes the movement of the week in the stock market. Practically all the leading issues were at best prices for several months until yesterday's recessions, based on further adverse crop news, wiped out a very large part of the rise.

It is evident from day-to-day advices that the government crop report as of August 1 was better by far than conditions as they exist today. That further serious damage has been done to corn admits of little doubt and data now available indicates the smallest yield of that cereal since 1904.

Another unfavorable development of the week was found in the steel and iron industry, numerous reductions of manufactured products being reported. There were rumors, also, that some of the independents, in their desire to get business, were likely to order [illegible] reductions.

Money was generally easier here, with free offerings from the interior, whose institutions were large buyers of commercial paper. Foreign markets showed some relaxation, though discounts evinced no tendency to ease.

"TREE MURDERERS" PROVE NEW POLICE PUZZLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—A row of handsome poplar trees, 50 feet high, growing at the rear of Sylvanus C. Farnham's place at 2421 Green street, is said by the police to be slowly dying from wounds received at the hands of some sap-thirsty arboreal assassin.

Detectives De La Guerra and Maloney are investigating the case and said yesterday that they knew who the culprits are and will soon have them in custody.

The Farnhams were away for the summer and on their return noticed that the trees which were so vigorous before their departure were withering and dying. An investigation disclosed that some miscreant had removed the earth around the roots of the trees and had bored at least a dozen half-inch holes in the trunks, just above the roots. Into these holes the police think that some kind of poisonous substance was introduced.

CULEBRA CUT ENGINEER SUFFERS BREAKDOWN

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Lieutenant-Colonel David du Bose Gaillard, a member of the Isthmian canal commission and divisional engineer in charge of the Culebra cut, arrived yesterday on the steamship Ancon on his way to the Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore. Mr. He is suffering from a nervous breakdown. He was accompanied by his wife and son and Lieutenant-Colonel Charles F. Mason, director of the Ancon hospital.

Since 1909 Colonel Gaillard has had entire charge ofthe Culebra cut, often referred to as the biggest job on the isthmus because of the slides.

TANGO TANGLES TO BE UNRAVELED

Society Leaders Don't Want to Lose Dance, But Merely Tone it.

Who put the tanglefoot in Tango? History doesn't tell, but Mrs. Frank C. Havens is the one who has taken it out again. The "Tangleless Tango" is the result. It's something like the "Angleworm Glide," without the little wiggle that makes the dance entrancing. Ancient Greece and modern Argentina are combined in a Luther Burbank conglomeration of Terpsichorean variations—a complicated description for what is really a very easy dance.

Mrs. Havens, Mrs. Herbert Hamilton Brown and a few other society leaders are trying to tone the rag down a little but still leave a "punch" in it. Combining the classical Greek dances with the Tango, they believe, has done it. Aesthetic dancing was tried at the State University recently, but didn't take. A little life, in the shape of the Tango, added like tobasco [illegible] that makes a hit of it.

A dancing class to teach the new dance will soon be started in the Hotel Oakland under the direction of the society leaders.

TAMALPIAS SCENE OF ANOTHER FIRE

Repetition of Former Blaze Feared; No Water Available.

MILL VALLEY, Aug. 16.—Threatening to become a conflagration as serious as that which recently devastated Mount Tamalapais, a forest fire which broke out yesterday afternoon on the north side of the mountain, at the bottom of Warners canyon, burned over an area of twenty acres, but was finally extinguished after three hours of hard fighting.

The origin of the blaze is not known.

More than 200 men, gathered from Mill Valley and around this district, battled with the flames desperately, fearing that the fire would get beyond control, owing to a high wind which prevailed all afternoon.

The fire fighters were led by Mayor Harvey B. Klyce of this place.

William Bush rushed twenty-five men from the Mount Tamalpais railroad roundhouse.

There was no water available, and the men engaged in combating the flames were compelled to resort to the old methods of cutting away paths and backfiring to stop the progress of the blaze.

At one time it seemed certain that a big grove of redwoods close to Warners ridge was doomed, but the fire was checked on the very edge of the grove.

The residence of Dr. Warner, after whom the ridge is named, barely escaped being consumed.

Almost simultaneously with the forest fire on Warners ridge a grass fire on Marin heights, back of the Tamalpais union high school, was discovered, but was extinguished after burning over seven acres.

Volunteers from Mill Valley and Alto fought the flames. They had plenty of water, however, and experienced no difficulty.

H. D. CLAYTON MAY NOT BE SENATOR

Arrives in Washington With His Commission, But Validity Questioned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama arrived in Washington late yesterday with his commission as United States Senator to succeed the late Joseph F. Johnston. Mr. Clayton went to his office in the House building, where he announced that his commission would not be presented to the Senate until Monday or Tuesday of next week. In the meanwhile he will consult with friends as to his course in urging the validity of his appointment.

He announced that he would be a candidate for Senator at the election in 1914, no matter what action the Senate might take in the matter of seating him now.

Senate leaders yesterday still were almost unanimously of the opinion that Governor O'Neal was without authority to name a Senator in the absence of action by the Alabama Legislature, and it was freely predicted he would not be seated.

CHEWING IS FORBIDDEN AS RESULT OF MISHAPS

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 16 — Chewing gum or tobacco while on duty has been forbidden motormen by the management of the fast shore line road which operates third-rail electric trains from this city to mainland points. Glen Grice bought a penny stick of gum at Ocean City just before he boarded his train for the run to this city this morning. The train had attained a thirty-mile gait, when he swallowed the gum. It lodged in his throat and shut off his wind.

The motorman fell over unconscious and the train, heavily loaded with passengers, ran for three miles before the conducter could stop it. Thumps on his back dislodged the motorman's gum but he had to seek hospital aid upon arrival here.

DOCK WORKERS DESERT I. W. W'S.: BACK AT WORK

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 16 — The swan song of the Industrial Workers of the World in Duluth was sung for the alleged agitators by the striking ore dock workers yesterday. The men voted to call the striffe off formally so those who wanted to could go back to work. Many of the strikers left for other fields, the harvest claiming most of them. The men who had been urged by I. W. W. leaders realized, they said, that there was no hope for their cause and they quqietly dispersed.

[illegible] Many of the strikers are returning to work while other have left the city. About 300 men are now working on both shifts. The company is providing [illegible]

KEPT MARRIAGE SECRET 5 YEARS

Now Seeks Divorce From Son of Former President of University.

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 16.—After keeping her marriage secret for five years Eva Stinson, as she was known professionally, as former head of the department of voice culture in the University of Oregon, admitted last night that she had been secretly married to Loris M. Johnson, son of the first president of the University, for that length of time, but that within a year they had separated. She is now suing him for divorce. At the time of the marraige, in Quebec, Canada, September 28, 1908, Johnson was working for his Ph. D. degree from Harvard, and secrecy was mutually agreed to. The romance was shortlived, the bride states in her complaint, adding that her husband was "obsessed with the idea that he was a man of extraordinary and unusual ability, high character and principles," and that he frequently upbraided her as [illegible] failed to pay him proper homage. Johnson was the second Rhodes scholar to go from Oregon, and is a brother of Rev. Herbert S. Johnosn of Boston.

BURLESON SENDS PRESENT BY POST

Illustrates to President Advantages Under New Parcel Rate Ruling.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Postmaster-General Burleson yesterday inaugurated the new regulations changing the parcel post rates and weight limit by mailing President Wilson a box of fine Georgia peaches. The box, which weighed seventeen pounds, with a postage charge of 13 cents, was delivered at the White House early in the day. With it came a note in which the postmaster-general said:

"This is an illustration of the opportunity which has been opened to the farmer, the horticulturalist, the manufacturer and to every citizen of the country who will avail himself of this valuable adjunct of the postal service in the promotion of the commerce and happiness of our people."

The new regulation which became effective yesterday raises the maximum weight of parcel post packages from eleven to twenty pounds and makes certain changes in the rates. The local delivery rate of postage was reduced from 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent for each additional pound or fraction thereof, to 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent for each additional two pounds or fraction thereof. The first and second zones, covering a radius of 150 miles from each local post office were consolidated and rates in them reduced from 5 cents for the first pound and 3 cents for each additional pound (the first zone rate) and 6 cents for the first pound and 4 cents for each additional pound (second zone rate) to 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent for each additional pound.

STATE WILL NOT PAY BONUSES ON BONDS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—California refused to sell any of the $5,000,000 in San Francisco harbor bonds yesterday and pay a commission of 10 per cent. The decision was reached after a conference between State Treasurer Roberts, Attorney-General Webb, the Board of Control and D. A. Moulton, Deputy State Controller.

The bidders who were present demanded the 10 per cent commission and would agree to take but a small portion of the bonds offered.

"We face the situation of having a $500,000 appropiation from which to pay a 10 per cent sales commission on $7,000,000 in unsold bonds and we can't figure how we are to make it go around if the bonds are sold in small lots and a 10 per cent commission is paid in each instance," said Treasurer Roberts.

"Besides we can't see where it is good banking or good business to pay out $300,000 in commissions to sell $3,000,000 in bonds when the State has enough money to buy the securities itself."

The sale was postponed until next Monday and if at that time bidders are not prepared to take over the entire $3,000,000 lot that is offered, the State will purchase what the State Treasurer fails to sell.

CENSURES ENGLAND FOR BEING TOO CHURLISH

LONDON, Aug. 16.—In an editorial dealing with Great Britain's refusal to participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the Outlook says:

"It seems pretty churlish that Great Britain should refuse to take part in the exposition because it would cost her a little more than she expected. Unless there are other and better rasons to be given for this policy we fear that England has cut rather a bad figure over the business and will lose something far more valuable than the orders she might have gained by a hearty look-in at Uncle Sam's big worlds show."

WILD WEST SHOW WILL BE WONDER

Best Riders of the World Will Perform at Great Exhibition.

Oakland will look like the headquarters of an enormous cattle round-up on Monday and Tuesday, August 18 and 19, for on those days the Oklahoma Ranch Wild West Show will give performances on the Lake Merritt show gronds, at Twelfth and Fallon streets, both afternoon and evening of those days.

The usual features of this extraordinary exhibition will be augmented by a progressive series of competitions for heavy purses of gold, open to any cowboy or cowgirl in the world, and for which many heroes and heroines of the Calgary and Winnipeg Stampedes, Pendleton Round-Up and the recent great Salinas Rodeo will enter.

There will be cowboys from some of the most famous Western ranches, with champions from many other great Wild West gatherings. There will be over 50 cowgirls every one of them a daring rider of wild horses from childhood. There will be scores of Indians, in all the panoply of war-bonnets, gay blankets and beaded ornaments, accompanied by their squaws and pappooses. There will be reckless riders from Cossack-land, bull fighters and lariat throwers from Mexico, and more other strange and curious people than have ever before, it is declared, been seen in a single street display.

The parade will be preliminary to what is expected to prove one of the most interesting and complete Wild West exhibitions ever seen in this city.

Col. Zack Mulhall, the famous Oklahoma rancher and founder of the town of Mulhall, and his equally famous daughters, Lucille and Georgie, will give a series of remarkable exhibitions with the lariat and illustrate in an exciting way the ranch method of controlling wild horses. A big band of cowboys and cowgirls will give a genuine round-up with Texas steers, and incidentally contribute a few exhilirating experiments in "broncho busting."

The afternoon and evening performances will begin at 2 and 8 o'clock. Tickets, on show days, may be purchased at Sherman, Clay & Co.'s Music Store at the same price as on the show grounds.

SPARKS FROM ENGINE FIRE OIL-SOAKED PILES

Sparks from a donkey engine on a piledriver at the new Southern Pacific depot at Sixteenth and Wood streets, set fire to a number of piles that were being used to make the runway for the electric service at the Sixteenth street station. The piles had been soaked in oil and were piled up in the yard drying when the sparks from the engine set fire to them shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Fire started today in a coffee mill owned by H. Grandjean at 367 Second street. It was extinguished before the arrival of the fire department, called on an alarm when the blaze was discovered. No damage was done.

STREET MATTERS IN THE COUNCIL

Alameda Law Makers Have Problem of Raising Funds for New Work.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 16.—Improvement of Alameda's streets, which Superintendent of Streets V. M. Frodden warns must be accomplished within a short time, will lead the city council into a quandary, according to an opinion renederd last night by City Attorney Samuel Poorman Jr. to the committee of the whole of the city [illegible] and served to suggest rather than to lay down the law to the council.

Poorman, after a careful consideration of the laws governing the repairing of "accepted streets," is of the opinion that the property owners can be assessed again. He believes, however, that such a procedure would stir up public protest, the property owners being of the opinion that they would be assessed but once for the building or improvement of the thoroughfare abutting their land. There has been no supreme court [illegible] matter, and the city attorney hesitates, without such a decision, to state whether or not the property owners could be compelled to pay a special street assessment.

The city attorney requested a hearing before the council so that the matter can be thoroughly threshed out and a definite line of action determined upon.

Mayor Frank Otis reiterated with emphasis the necessity for prompt action in the matter of improvement of streets. He declared that the street superintendent had reported to him that if action in improving the streets is not taken at once the highways will be beyond repair. The mayor asserted that Alameda avenue, from Park street to its western terminus and Central avenue from High to Sherman street, are the most badly in need of repairs. He has obtained an estimate as to the cost of placing a two-inch layer of asphalt on these streets, together with concrete curbings. The mayor was not prepared to announce these figures.

Councilman William Hammond Jr. suggested that the city have a special road fund to repair streets which are in poor condition. In this way, he said, the present contingency could not arise. Sufficient money could always be kept in the city treasury for the wear and tear on streets.

The council will hold a special meeting in the near future and the street improvement matter will be taken up at length.

MAY EXTEND THE TIME OF PAVING CONTRACT

ALAMEDA, Aug. 16. — City Engineer I. N. Chapman reported at a meeting of the committee of the whole of the Alameda city council last night that work on the construction of the drainage sewer along the west side of Webster street road is interfered with by the operations of the San Francisco Bridge company, and that it will be necessary to grant an extension of time to the contractors in order to complete the work. Chapman said that the concrete curbs and drainage sewer, as well as several catch basins, will have to be in place before the company can commence the laying of the macadam.

The work was to have been completed by September 30. In accordance with the recommendation the time will probably be extended for 30 days.

TELLS VALUE OF NAVAL BASE HERE

Captain Pond, U. S. N., Is Heard With Interest by Chamber of Commerce.

BERKELEY, Aug. 16. — Directors of the Chamber of Commerce are discussing with interest today the address delivered before them by Captain Charles F. Pond, commandant of the 12th naval district, U. S. N. "Naval Bases on the Pacific" was the subject of his address. He dwelt at some length and in an authoritative manner on the superior advantages of this bay as a naval base site.

POSSIBLE SITE.

He pointed out that in order to be considered as a possible site for so important an institution as a naval base a harbor must be near the sea, must have ample space for receiving and handling not only one or two or even three disabled ships at one time, but must be of sufficient size and scope to accommodate a fleet of war vessels, no matter under what conditions they seek shelter.

A naval base is much more important than a navy yard, which may possibly be of smaller dimensions and more limited capacity in the matter of area or depth of water, and the speaker believed that the future will see the establishment of a great naval base on San Francisco bay. The naval base at Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu, was referred to as an important and splendidly located base. The immediate Pacific coast waters need another base, and naval experts agree that it should be located on [illegible]

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

A report concerning street car service in Berkeley was received from a committee composed of F. T. Robson, G. L. Schneider and E. J. Bither, indicating ways in which improvements may be made without extra expense to the companies.

G. B. Moody addressed the board in favor of the department of physical training department of the public schools.

W. S. C. Schmidt addressed the board in favor of obtaining a new and larger site for the high school, declaring the present location to be inadequate. He favored acquiring the needed land by condemnation proceedings if the owner should for any reason decline to sell, and thought a tract of at least 15 acres ought to be purchased for this purpose.

RICHMOND STIRRED BY COMING ELECTION

RICHMOND, Aug. 16. — Probably no special election ever held in Richmond, and there have been many, has caused more interest than the one which is to come up next Tuesday on a referendum vote of the people for the adoption or rejection of the anti-picketing ordinance recently passed by the city council.

During the last case of union labor picketing in Richmond, when a sandwich man was parading in front of a local store, declared by the unions to be unfair, ex-City Attorney Windim put the picket man out of business by smashing his banner over his head. This created considerable feeling, one way and another, with the result that Windim finally resigned as city attorney to throw oil upon the troubled waters. Shortly after this the council passed an ordinance forbidding picketing in the city, and before it could become operative a referendum petition was filed by the local trades council, and the matter comes up for a vote of the people Tuesday. The manufacturing interests and the business men are set against picketing, while the labor leaders are equally persistent in their endeavors to defeat the ordinance. It is impossible to guess at the result, as the election will likely be close.

Recorder Sutton and His Force Kept More Than Busy

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Aug. 16.—Inyo mountain fastnesses and San Bernardino fields, coastal nooks and metropolitan flats have conspired to turn grey the hair of the University recorder and are well nigh succeeding. The freshman in all his infinite variety has descended upon the academic precincts in numbers many fold greater than ever, until the tripled force in Recorder Sutton's faculty is working day and night to get him, or her, in in his or her proper place.

The first day of registration at the University for the new semester closed at 6 o'clock last night with 989 new freshmen registered, as compared with 795 for the first day last year, a gain for the one day of approximately 200. Today's registration again was in advance of the second day of last year, with every prospect of close to 400 intrants signing the cards of enrollment before nightfall.

LARGE INCREASE.

Recorder Sutton estimated this morning that the number of new undergraduates would go well over the 1400 mark, as compared with 1213 last year, and the morning's registration today started early to bear out his prediction. Upper classmen and graduates return to register next Monday, but the full registration, owing to the lateness of many arrivals, will not be completed for a week or more. When it is complete, Recorder Sutton predicts the total will pass 5000, exclusive of the summer sessioners, as compared with 4600 last year, a gain probably of close to half a thousand. With the 2460 summer school students, the University's total registration for the year will approximate 7500, keeping the institution still second only to Columbia in size of student body for all American colleges.

GUIDES FRESHMEN.

The usual number of dodgers, folders, newspapers, Y. M. C. A. booklets and the like is at hand, giving the freshman information to guide his present and future conduct, some of it valid and some of it not. The annual ten commandments, wherein the sophomore class imposes its will upon the verdant intrants, is due toward the end of next week. It will forbid the freshmen to sit on North Hall steps or the Senior bench or to smoke a pipe on the campus or to wear the headgear that is the insignia of the second year men, or do various other things that might lessen the dignity of his superiors, who are so constituted by twelve months' seniority.

FUNERAL OF AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM

Service Over Remains of Vanclief Wehe Held at Father's Home.

BERKELEY, Aug. 16.—The funeral of Vanclief Wehe, the young Oakland real estate man, who was killed in an automobile accident near Ben Lomond, Thursday night, was quietly held this afternoon at the home of his father, Frank R. Wehe, on Telegraph avenue and Carlton street. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. A. B. Fry, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church. Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery.

Wehe was killed when a touring car in which he was riding with C. L. Decker of Oakland, Miss B. Cole of Woodland and Miss Margaret Ernst of San Francisco, skidded on a waaered road and crashed into an embankment. Wehe was thrown out and badly mangled.

Mrs. Wehe went to Ben Lomond soon after the accident and returned with the body to Berkeley last evening. She and her little son survive the deceased, in addition to his father and mother, three brothers and a sister.

WOODLAND, Aug. 16.—Miss Margaret Ernst, who was injured Thursday in the accident in which Vanclief Wehe, the Oakland realty dealer, was killed, is in a precarious condition at her home here. The family has been summoned to the girl's bedside. It is feared that she will die.

Three ribs were broken, and she was frightfully wounded by the spoke of a broken wheel of the auto, which pierced [illegible] party, will recover. Miss Cole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Cole of this city, and Miss Ernst is the daughter of H. L. Ernst.

"WARE BAD FRAT," WARNS EDITOR

Publication Tells Freshmen to Seek Organization With High Ideals.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Aug. 16.—Editor Henry L. Knoop, editor of "Brass Tacks," the weekly publication of the League of the Republic, a student organization, hotly scores some of the university fraternities in the initial issue of his paper for the term. He divides the 30 fraternities of the campus into good and evil, and warns the freshman just entering college against the latter.

"Don't join a frat until you have been here at least six months," says the paper. "At the end of that time you will have had some opportunity of finding out what kind of organizations are rushing you. If you're a moral weakling, don't make some good frat sorry for its action in admitting you by trying to get into it: and conversely, if you're decent, don't let a bunch whose ideals don't come up to yours to pull you down to their level."

The paper continues by quoting President Wheeler as follows:

"The bunch which rushes you via the saloon route, or the Barbary Coast, is not the bunch to join, because they aren't in themselves true Californians, and we don't want either them or any more of their kind."

Mentioning that there are 30 fraternities and 12 sororities on the campus, Knoop continues:

"There are among this exceedingly large total of organizations some which are unquestionably good and the ideals of which are the highest. There are also some certain ones, and the proportion of them is entirely too large, that have low ideals or none at all; where the atmosphere is not conducive to study and where the moral stamina of the members is weak. One who joins one of these must either willingly or unwillingly accept the standard which the other members set, and his efficiency will at least be lowered and his life perhaps ruined."

ALAMEDA WILL HAVE ANOTHER AUTO ENGINE

ALAMEDA, Aug. 16.—Alameda is to have two auto fire engines, the committee of the whole of the city council last night authorizing the police and fire commission to proceed to purchase a new machine at a cost of $4000. The new engine will probably not be in commission until after November 1.

President Al Latham of the commission explained the need of a new engine, and the police and fire committee filed its recommendation that the second machine be purchased. The auto will be purchased from the Watrous Fire Engine Company, the same concern which sold the city its present machine. Latham stated that the opportunity to purchase the engine is a snap, as a similar machine in one of the newer types would cost $10,000. It is estimated by the committee and commission that the new engine will mean a saving to the city of $625 a year. The horse-drawn vehicle will be withdrawn from service and held for emergency.

The police and fire commission was also authorized to have plans and specifications prepared for a tractor for the hook and ladder. It is estimated that this tractor will cost about $2500.

RICHMOND "NATIVES" ARE ALL AT CROCKETT TODAY

RICHMOND, Aug. 16.—A big delegation of Native Sons and Daughters of the Richmond parlors left at noon today for Crockett, where the big celebration of all the parlors of Contra Costa county is going on, commencing with this afternoon and lasting through this evening and all day tomorrow. The big feature of the celebration will be the class initiation in which each parlor of the county will enter its quota of candidates, these ceremonies to be followed by a big parade, dancing and a general mardi gras carnival. Sunday there is to be a barbecue and a continuation of the festivities. Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco will unveil the big bear flag this evening, a very beautiful [illegible] of plants and flowers growing in the famous Crockett sunken garden. CHARLEY GIN IS CHARGED GAMBLER

Alameda Chinese Is Rearrested for Alleged Chuck-a-Luck Playing.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 16. — Charley Gin, a Chinese, was rearrested last night by Detective George Brown and charged at the local police station with operating a chuck-a-luck game. This is the second occasion of Gin's arrest, he being released on bail on a similar charge.

On the occasion of his first arrest, a chuck-a-luck layout, dice and a dice box were confiscated. Gin operates a Chinese restaurant at the corner of Park street and Lincoln avenue, which is declared by the police to be a blind for the real purpose of operating the game. While the chuck-a-luck game is declared to be a violation of the anti-gambling law, the police believe it to be one of the "straightest" games for the operation of which they have had occasion to apprehend anyone.

STRIKE CLOSES LEAD MINES IN MISSOURI

DISCUSS SITES FOR NEW BATHS

Alameda Councilmen Divided Upon Question of Most Favorable Location.

ALAMEDA, Aug. 16. — Councilman William Hammond Jr., at the meeting of the committee of the whole of the Alameda council last night, went on record as bein gopposed to the establishment of a municipal natatorium either at the south end of Park street or in Lincoln park. Hammond was in favor of the [illegible] thought Washington park the only logical place for their erection.

The councilman has been making a study of the question of the city operating the baths for a long time. He called on the clerk to read from the minutes of a meeting a year ago, where he had introduced the matter in the council.

Hammond was upheld by Councilman E. J. Probst, who also expressed himself as being in favor of the more central location.

The chief objection to the Park street location is its remoteness from the center of population and the fact that it is not accessible by any street car or train. The first portion of the objection holds with reference to Lincoln park, which is in the extreme east end of the city. Hammond announced that the Washington park location, now that the new cross-town line is in operation, is convenient to every portion of the city, and can be reached by the greatest number of people in the least possible time.

The pavilion must be on the banks and not on the beach, Hammond said. This arrangement would leave the beaches free for surf bathing and lounging. The matter will be again considered by the committee.

The council committee voted to revert the funds in the park and playground fund to the new recreation fund and to abolish the former fund.

Miss Alyce Loftis applied for the position of matron of Lincoln Park, stating that she had heard that Miss Dorothy Holbrook, the present matron, is to resign.

City Attorney Poorman rendered an opinion in regard to the improvement of Briggs and Central avenue, just west of Fernside boulevard. He reported that the strips are claimed by private owners and that litigation would cost more than the improvement involved. The alleged owner of the Briggs avenue strip, he reported, had agreed to surrender title if the city would improve the street. The opinion was referred to the street committee.

The street superintendent reported that the Palmero Court sewer had been constructed by the C. F. Fischer company to his satisfaction.

The Imperial Film company solicited an order from the council to have moving pictures of Alameda taken for distribution about the world. The company is to send an aviator and "movies" operator i na naeroplane from Buffalo to the coast and the pictures will be taken en route. The matter was referred to the Chamber of Commerce.

An invitation from the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce, asking the council to attend the dedication of a new station in that city, was accepted.

City Attorney Poorman reported that the suit in the electrolier matter will not be settled for at least two weeks and that until then nothing can be done in regard to refunding money to the property-owners, except in districts 4 and 5, which are not affected.

Superintendent of Streets Frodden reported that a culvert will be installed at Eagle avenue and Chapin street before the rainy season.

The city attorney announced that he had an opinion written in regard to the Southern Pacific 2½ cent fare matter, but that he is not entirely satisfied with it and will not make it public at present.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Determined to bring down via the bore-gun route the [illegible] ence, the sixth expedition of E. Marshall Scull and Alfred M. Collins, millionaire clubmen and amateur huntsmen from Philadelphia into the land of the Aurora Borealis began yesterday, when they left for the North on the schooner Alhambra.

With Scull and Collins are Gilbert Lovering of Philadelphia and Dr. J. H. Eltinge of Albany, who will for the first time try their luck with the game of the Arctic. LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—G. D. Trapani, an Italian merchant, who, when his home was blown up June 15, told the police that he was the victim of the "blackhand," was arrested today upon a charge that he had shot an employe of a produce company through the jaw. According to the police, Trapani and the produce worker named Bert Thomas, had been quarreling for several days and the climax was reached this morning when Thomas threw a potato at Trapani's son, striking him on the head. The child ran home, crying. The father went to Thomas and applied vile epithets to him, it was alleged. Thomas resented them and struck Trapani in the eye with his fist. Then Trapani, according to Thomas' assertions, drew a revolver and shot him through the jaw. Thomas was rushed to the receiving hospital and Trapani to jail. Thomas will recover.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—Secretary Daniels presented the target practice pennant today to the battleship Idaho, the crack ship of the navy, here today, and read her officers and crew a lesson in preparedness.

"There never is time to 'make ready' in any truly great crisis in life," said the secretary, commending the crack gunners for their skill. "What is a growing navy worth to us unless manned by men who live in a state of preparedness? You may not know it, but it will add to your appreciation when I tell you that as a boy it was the highest ambition of Woodrow Wilson to enter the naval academy and become a naval officer. If his father had not led him into other lines, the probability is that today he would be with you as a captain or admiral instead of wrestling with the big problems that have kept him in Washington all summer, while you have had the good fortune to be refreshed by the breezes from old ocean."

"It has also greatly benefited me for bronchial trouble and cough, and acts so well in harmony with nature, it is more like a food than a medicine."—Drug Department, Kahn's.

SCHOOL AND PLAYGROUND

ORGANIZATIONS OF SCHOOLS TO PROGRESS

The social, athletic and dramatic organizations of the local high schools will be reorganized upon the opening of the fall semester next Monday morning. Last spring the different clubs of the three high schools made splendid progress and the interest will continue this term.

It was a success. The members of the faculty acted as patronesses and aided in perfecting arrangements for the function.

The officers of the Dramatic club were Pearl L. Avery, president; Carolyn Norman, secretary; Margaret Jackson, treasurer, and Helene Robertson, dramatic instructor.

Many performances will be given under the auspices of the dramatic club of the Oakland high school this season. The society is the largest of all the student body organizations. Superintendent of Schools A. C. Barker told members of the Alameda County Civic Association at their meeting Thursday night that the increase in the estimate for the school budget of 1913-1914 was due to the demands of the improvement clubs. Barker was asked why the school department had asked for $12,500 for an assembly hall for Lafayette school, $4,500 for a hall at Garfield school, $10,000 for a hall at Fruitvale school No. 1, $10,000 for a hall at Elmhurst school, and $17,500 for the purchase of seventeen acres of land at Lockwood school.

The Fight for Civic Betterment.

In a fight for civic betterment the people must be prepared to hear all sorts of stories set afloat to discredit those who are trying to apply a remedy for evil conditions. Those responsible for the evil conditions will resort to any artifice, falsehood of the basest kind and calumny of all kinds to prevent effective reforms from being carried out.

Lawbreaking saloonkeepers borrow their methods of fighting from the skunk. Men engaged in a dirty business can be depended upon to make a dirty fight. Scandalous stories which are wholly immaterial to the issue will be circulated in an effort to break the force of public opinion and create diversions and dissensions in the ranks of those who are striving to clean up the town and abate crying evils.

Attacking motives is an old trick of persons occupying an indefensible position. It is much easier for a divekeeper detected in violating the law to say that he is being persecuted because somebody has a spite against him than to prove that he conducts a decent place and is guiltless of the offenses laid at his door. Suppose somebody does have a spite against him, what does it matter? Shall evil conditions be permitted to flourish unchecked because the persons responsible for them answer with the charge that those who advocate reforms are actuated by spite? Conceding the charge to be true—it is not worth denial—the issue is not affected thereby, the facts are not changed nor conditions altered.

Let no man or woman be deceived by stories set afloat by the lawbreaking saloon element who are fighting with their backs against the wall to perpetuate evil conditions and prevent improvement of the moral and social conditions in the city. The object of such stories is to render abortive efforts to remedy abuses and guard against their recurrence.

It is furtively whispered around, for instance, that THE TRIBUNE advocates reducing the number of saloons to 200, doubling the license tax and driving all saloons out of the residence districts because it wants the liquor dealers to pay it a big price to quit. If THE TRIBUNE were actuated by any such base motive, is it any argument against the reform it advocates? The best answer that can be made to this lying insinuation is to pass an ordinance shutting the liquor traffic out of residence districts, reducing the number of saloons from 397 to 200 and increasing the license from $500 to $1000 a year AT ONCE. If THE TRIBUNE should falter or change front on this proposition it will merit and receive the contempt and condemnation of the people. Even if it were willing to be so venal and contemptible, is the reform it advocates any less necessary and salutary?

So far as motives are concerned, we are willing to let every man judge us as he will if he will only lend his hand to cleaning up the town. Let him distrust our motives if it pleases him, but let him join hands in carrying out this reform. If we are not with him at the finish, let him pass any judgment his conscience may dictate. But while this fight is going on, let no sincere man be halted and misled by slanders and libels emanating from those who are or leagued to defeat reform and are striving to defeat the purification of the city. Call THE TRIBUNE what you please, but do your duty to your homes and your children. We are not working for the good opinion of the divekeepers, and we do not expect it. If they could buy THE TRIBUNE they would be only too glad. Because they can't, they say they can, and they ask the good people of this town to believe the ridiculous story and refrain from closing up their joints.

Denials are superfluous and useless. THE TRIBUNE'S course and utterances speak for themselves. There will be no change of tone or position, no relaxation in the vigor of its demand till the issue before the people is settled and settled right. There will be no deviation from the platform it made in the beginning. The saloonmen know this, and the good people will be blind to their own interests and the obvious facts of the situation if they allow themselves to believe otherwise. Don't mind what the enemy says; clean him out.

The Impeachment of Governor Sulzer.

The impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer is attracting wide attention. It deserves thoughtful and critical study.

It is admitted that the impeachment proceedings originated with Tammany Hall, and were brought to punish Sulzer for defying Tammany's dictation and endeavoring to institute reforms in opposition to the wishes of the Tammany boss, Charles F. Murphy. Whether the reforms he insisted upon are practicable and well considered is a legitimate subject of debate, but his motives for bringing them forward appear to be clean and patriotic. As to the character of the Tammany organization, there is little room for dispute. Tammany has arrayed under its banner the most corrupt elements in New York; it has always been an obstacle to good government and a steadfast defender of precisely those abuses which have the most corrupting influence on public morals and official integrity. Of Tammany's motives there can be no doubt.

But the issue legally considered is not between Tammany and Governor Sulzer. The gist of the charges brought against the Governor is that he accepted contributions to his campaign fund and took the money for his private use, and to conceal the diversion of funds made an affidavit under oath falsely stating the amount of money he had received and expended in his campaign. He is not accused of using the money to corruptly influence politics, nor is it contended that he made a false affidavit to cover up an unlawful and illegitimate expenditure of money for political purposes. The money he lost in stock speculation was not to be repaid and the public interests did not suffer because he gambled it off in Wall street. He did not corrupt anybody or rob anybody, assuming that he did divert campaign contributions to his private use, nor do the charges touch the integrity of any official act. The malfeasance of which he stands accused is purely personal and does not affect the administration of the office to which he was elected.

As appears from the articles of impeachment, the story is one of human weakness and cowardice rather than moral turpitude. [illegible] stocks, his brokers were calling for more money to cover his margins and he took campaign funds to make his contracts good. This is the mesh of circumstance in which he is caught and for which he is facing impeachment and removal from office.

Tammany's motives are easy to understand. That predatory organization is not striving to punish Sulzer for doing wrong, but to destroy him for doing right. The question every thoughtful man should ask himself is. will civic morality suffer or benefit by the removal of Sulzer from office? Tammany now controls both houses of the New York Legislature. With Sulzer out of the way it will also control the executive office. Tammany would not care from whom Sulzer obtained money, how he obtained it or what he did with it if he would only do Tammany's bidding. Because he is standing in Tammany's way and opposing Tammany's designs an effort is being made to thrust him into the pit of oblivion and disgrace. He digged the pit himself, but to cast him in it is to give Tammany unrestricted control of all the branches of government in the State of New York.

From the alternative there is no escape. To put Sulzer out is to let Tammany in. The only way to keep Tammany out is to keep Sulzer in. It is this phase of the situation that invests the impeachment trial with such grave interest. It is the issue lying beneath the surface that adds weight to the moral problem.

The truth is out at last. It was chivalry, not lust that prompted that trip to Reno. Inadvertently the Mann act was violated in an effort to save the girls from shame and disgrace.

Whether Henry Lane Wilson, until recently United States Ambassador to Mexico, lacks sense or discretion, or is out to make a disturbance in which he will be the central figure we do not know, but we do know he is just the sort of an individual that should not be retained in the diplomatic service. His partisanship for the Huerta administration is so pronounced as to bring his good faith under suspicion. He talks as though he were the representative of Huerta rather than the diplomatic agent of the United States. His latest caper is to issue a statement offensive to the British government. He brings in question the veracity of the British foreign office, and in doing so shows he stands with Huerta and has been striving to gain for the Mexican dictator the recognition of foreign powers, including his own government. He deserves dismissal with a sharp reprimand. Politics should cut no figure in his case.

RICH TOE THE LINE

Recently Vincent Astor, the richest young man in the United States, spent the greater part of an afternoon visiting the public schools on the lower East Side in New York. Before the visit ended it became evident that the young man, supposed to have been reared in a manner that would not bear down too onerously upon him, had had a pretty stiff curriculum to follow in his educational program. He watched boys during a play interval at basketball, baseball and putting the shot, and saw they enjoyed it.

"They made me do many things not near so pleasant for exercise," said Mr. Astor. "At school I had to drill with a wand from 12 until 12:30 every day, and I didn't like it a bit. These boys get exercise, and the kind of exercise they like. They wouldn't let me have any choice or I would have been at something just like this."

Mr. Astor is not the only son of very wealthy parents who had to toe the mark," so far as conformity to a set scholastic system was concerned. Among the more prominently known American families the private tutor and the "velvet" system have been the exception in the training of both boys and girls. The better-known preparatory schools long ago made it a rule that under no circumstances would the wealth or station of those attending exempt them from every detail of the regular routine. In many cases—as is natural—pleas have been sent home to have things made easier, but as a rule the parents of the elder generation made up their minds to have their children [illegible] discipline in the same manner and degree as their school associates.

At a very popular Boston preparatory school, however, not long ago, a boy of 15 refused absolutely to join in a surveying trip that had been made part of the curriculum for those who were entered to take a course in civil engineering at the university. The school officials communicated with the refractory boy's father. Over the long distance phone the boy declared he could never agree to tramp up hill and down dale measuring things and carrying rods and poles. Even the thought of it made him disgusted.

The boy seemed to have won the battle for after the telephone talk was over he grinned at his preceptors and made no preparation to join the surveying party in their trip. He explained to his chums that he was going to leave school, as his father had phoned him he was coming on to take him on a little jaunt. The school officials left him severely alone, and this the boys could not exactly understand.

Next morning just before the young [illegible] started out, the refractory son was surprised to see his father step from an automobile that had met the early train. He wore a khaki suit and looked altogether like a man ready to rough it.

"Hello, son," he said to the wondering boy. "Run into the school and get on your rough work togs. We'll need them for the next week.

"We're going on a week's jaunt with this surveying outfit. I went on the same jaunt from this very school just 21 years before you were born. Folks used to say I was a first-class surveyor and civil engineer. I lay all I know to the start I got here. Come along, son. You'll carry the pole for me."

SECOND LAD ACCUSED BY ALAMEDA POLICE

ALAMEDA, Aug 16 — Carl Baber of 4421 Lincoln avenue, San Francisco, was taken into custody by Detective George Brown and charged at the local police office with petit larceny. Baber is accused with having been one of a pair of boys who yesterday stole a bicycle belonging to A. L. Johnson of Sacramento.

Johnson had left his wheel in front of the City Hall. When he returned it was gone and he boarded a car for Oakland. On the way he noticed a youth riding his machine. The boy boarded a creek route ferryboat and Johnson arrested him, bringing him back to Alameda. The boy gave the name of John Conway of [illegible] Octavia street, San Francisco, and implicated Baber. Both have been turned over to the probation office.

Mrs. Colquhoun, J. M. Colquhoun and Edith Colquhoun left yesterday for the World's Fair.

The labor troubles have calmed down in Fresno, but an outbreak in Tulare shows an intense feeling against the Chinese in the valley.

One hundred thousand men will parade New York streets; they are the city's unemployed.

The prosperity evident in every direction in Oakland is the astonishment of all visitors.

The State Board of Equalization is now in session. Alameda county shows an increase of over a million dollars, an honest increase in valleys.

Tonight "The Melancholy Dane" will stride the boards, for, by special request, Mr. Mantell will appear as "Hamlet."

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

Endorsed by the Ladies, Bless 'Em!

The ladies—God bless them!—those that have the leisure for busybodiness, are giving their time freely to the solution of problems that vex the souls of men. What a great blessing the ballot has been to some of them! From obscurity they have leapt into the limelight and crowded the E. P. E. Troys into the background, thus proving themselves a blessing to all of us. The ladies with the ballot are more vigilant, more active than most folk are aware of. They are attending to small matters and trivial as well as to the large and important things of political life. Consequently if you are in politics you will find it to your advantage to cultivate the ladies, get their endorsement, their support and their approval. If you are deserving they will deserving, for they have intuition. They know even a competent Greek interpreter when they see one, as is evident from the following, a copy of which was received in the form of a letter by each of the police judges a few weeks ago:

Whereas, The Greek interpreter of the city and county of San Francisco, M. Valianos, has been found guilty of a felony, and

Whereas, The Woman's Political League stands for efficiency and integrity in office, and

Whereas, Mr. N. Tsakonas, an applicant for the position, has all the qualifications of sterling character and efficiency and the recommendation of the Greek Consul, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Woman's Political League by its president requests the appointment of the said N. Tsakomas to the position of Greek interpreter.

The letter was signed by Mary Fairbrother, president of the League.

The police judges met the other day and appointed a new Greek interpreter, but N. Tsakonas wasn't the man they gave the job to. The reason as they explain is that subsequent to his making a fine impression on the ladies of the league Mr. Tsakonas had the misfortune to be found in a Santa Cruz hotel bending over the dead body of a woman whom he had registered as his wife, but who was in reality the wife of another man. This unhappy episode gave the judges pause. Of course Mr Tsakonas was able to explain that it was all a terrible mistake, and moreover he was acquitted of wrongdoing by the dead woman's husband, but the police judges, sceptical persons, were inclined to harbor what they conceived to be doubt. While they have profound respect for the judgment of the league ladies they thought it possible that Mr. Tsakonas, the big, handsome Greek, with all his sterling character, was a gay and accomplished deceiver, and they feared that he might not reflect credit on his enthusiastic sponsors.—Town Talk.

The Spreckels Jewel Robbery

San Francisco had its jewel robbery last week, and a sensational jewel robbery it was, but it didn't get into the papers like the Rumsey jewel robbery at Newport. The jewels stolen were the property of Mrs. John D. Spreckels Jr., and their value was ten thousand dollars. When Mrs. Spreckels discovered her loss she notified the police and the Pinkertons, and a swarm of sleuths began gumshoeing for clues. At the end of several busy hours which brought absolutely no results, Mrs. Spreckels recovered her jewels and the hawkshaws were fed and dismissed. It will afford an insight into the less than Sherlock Holmes perspicacity of the detectives when I state that the Raffles who made away with the jewels left his coat and waistcoat in the home, and still there was no clue to his identity in the possession of the "fly cops" when he acknowledged his deed and returned the jewels. This may all sound very mysterious, but it is a simple story.

The reader will not be startled, I hope, when I present Jack Spreckels in the role of a Raffles. It was all a joke, a joke seriously played by Jack upon his wife to show her that he was always right in insisting that she keep her jewels in a safe deposit box. That it proved a joke on the detectives also is a mere detail. Jack Spreckels intended to attend the grove play last Saturday, but he was busy and missed the train. So he went home to dinner Saturday evening. When he arrived at the entrance to his "cliff dwelling" in Washington street above Taylor he found the front door open. Mrs. Spreckels was in the upper part of the flat and did not hear Jack enter. It was then that the notion of illustrating for his wife's benefit how easy it is to commit a jewel robbery, a favorite thesis of Jack's, came into his head. He went to Mrs. Spreckels' boudoir, gathered up her jewels and slipped them into his trousers pocket. Then, just to leave a clue, he changed his coat and waistcoat, and quietly left the house. The clue was not found, and the identity of Mr. Raffles was a mystery until several hours later when Jack confessed to Mrs. Spreckels. Mrs. Spreckels agrees with Jack that the only place for jewels which are not being worn is in a safe deposit box.—Town Talk.

Clare Payne Is Also Working

Last week I recorded the surprising news that two of the Payne boys had gone to work. I told how Herbert had plunged into the study of law while Arthur had embarked in the moving picture business. I added that Clare still remained a young gentleman of leisure. It was just like Clare Payne to go and give me the lie. Clare too has forsaken the primrose path for serious endeavor. With the consent of his mother he recently sold a valuable piece of property in Connecticut and invested the money in a tract of land on Long Island which he is now subdividing and putting on the market. It looks as though he is going to truth is stranger than fiction when we thus find the three young millionaires of the Payne family laboriously earning their [illegible]—Town Talk.

Scott Is Real Theatrical Angel

The society reporters declare that A. W. Scott Jr. is violently opposed to the histrionic ambitions of his beautiful and talented wife. That is true enough. As far as my information goes, though, Mr. Scott is in reality backing the coming tour of Mrs. Scott in a repertoire to include "Magda," "Mary Magdalene," and other roles made famous by tragediennes. Mr. Scott is practically assuring to his actress wife the professional setting her ambition craves, while he still keeps her from taking the final plunge into professional stage work as her vocation. The week of play here for the benefit of the Happy Day Home will only be the starter, for arrangements are being made for a tour of from a dozen to twenty weeks, which will take Mrs. Scott from one end as far east as Chicago. In each town the net proceeds are to go to some charity. Professional talent will support Mrs. Scott, and be paid professional wages. Mrs. Scott will receive nothing except the pleasure of appearing before the footlights. The charities in the various towns will get the net proceeds. Thus Mr. Scott, while financing the production, will really be out nothing if it is a success. [illegible] the gross proceeds, theater rent and salaries will be paid from the same source, and the charities will get the balance. Thus every one will be satisfied. Mrs. Scott will be the star of each production, and will be supported by professionals selected by her. So she will really be realizing her ambition and appearing on the regular stage. It is not every woman with stage ambition who is lucky enough to have such a sensible and wealthy husband as Mrs. Scott has.—Wasp.

Rolph Takes a Stand

The lady with the ballot, though somewhat impulsive and impetuous, is far from futile. It is to her credit that she evoked from Mayor Rolph a confession of faith in his police commission. To be sure, it was her purpose to induce the Mayor to take the big stick to the commission, and to be sure, she was very much disappointed when he refused to accede to the wishes of her ladyship, but it was something more important to have the Mayor take a [illegible] stand and let it be known that he is not in sympathy with the muckraking of the police department. Mayor Rolph has probably come to the conclusion that Pharisaism has gone far enough. He realizes by this time that political motives actuate the leaders of the campaign that is being waged for the removal of Chief White, and doubtless he feels that it has been fortunate for the administration that the majority of the police commission do not concur in the sentiments of Mr. Max Kuhl. A very busy politician is Kuhl, with high aspirations, and he has the notion that as women are active in politics it behooves the politician to blue law the city into a semblance of Los Angeles in the days before the citizens revolted against chemical purity. The women who are active in politics, who make the most noise, who get their pictures into the papers, are not the only women that vote as the unco guid of Los Angeles learned at the last election.—Town Talk.

That Vote On Club Consolidation

How these clubwomen do love one another! The remark is "said sarcastick" as Artemus Ward used to put it. There are the same jealousies in aristocratic breasts as in the bosoms of proletarian nobodies. For instance. The Francisca and the Town and Country within whose tapestried walls the cream of the cream of feminine exclusiveness whiles away the hours of idleness, recently voted on the question of consolidation. We learned from the papers that the Francisca ladies turned down the proposition by a vote of 250 to 195. That was taken to mean that the Francisca disposed of the question. But what we did not learn from the papers was that the Town and Country turned the proposition down by the still more decisive vote of 355 to 95. In other words there were more Town and Country women against consolidation than there were Franciscans. Why, I know not. But some of the Town and Country clubsters are mean enough to hint that the Franciscans took particular pains to get their vote into the papers and to convey the impression that all the turning down had been on their part alone. Isn't it awful the way some women will gossip about other women?—Town Talk.

Alas, Poor Rowell, He Denies It

So little Chettie Rowell didn't say those naughty things about Fremont Older and his lady friend, Alice Smith, whose "story" has just run its way through the columns of the Bulletin. Some southern paper quoted Brother Rowell as landing on Brother Older with a swat that you could hear from Imperial to Siskiyou, and Older promptly wept into print. Rowell was charged with saying any city which would tolerate the publication of such a story was richly entitled to be called the wickedest city in the world. He further said, according to the interview, that the difference between the salacious "Bulletin" and a real moralist was the difference between a high-class surgeon and the lowest psycopath of the gutters. But Rowell says he didn't say any such thing, and he and Older have mingled their briny tears in a sweet communion of forgiveness. It's too bad Brother Rowell didn't say what he was charged with saying. He had a splendid opportunity to set himself right with a large number of right-thinking people. For once he would have done something of real journalistic worth. But the thoughts of losing out his seat in that the Heneys proved too moving, and the hysterical outburst of weeps and forgiveness, like a Holy Roller convention, followed.—Wasp.

Steele's Grove Play Pleases and Doesn't

"The Fall of Ug" pleased and did not please the Bohemians. Scenically the production surpassed all that preceded it. So elaborately were details worked out that real live Belgian hares played about the forest stage. The flying ballet in which "Billy" Smith and others risked their lives went without a hitch. The illumination of the forest with which the grove play must end was worked ingeniously into the action of the piece, not dragged in. But the story of the play did not make a strong appeal; it lacked emotional intensity. And the blank verse was not a poet's. The music was a great surprise. The Bohemians had expected from Herman Perlet light, tuneful music of no particular significance. Instead he produced one of the most inspiring scores

When Porter Garnett wrote a preface for "The Green Knight" he puzzled Bohemia with his sesquipedalian verbiage. Steele has a foreword to "The Fall of Ug" which is not a very successful piece of fine writing. "It is inconceivable," he begins, "that our grove should not always have been the meeting place extraordinary of the men who occupied the country roundabout." Steele develops this idea [illegible] patched with purple and tinsel. "I believe that earnestness and even [illegible] marked the coming to this grove of yesterday's pretenders to its mastery" is a statement all Bohemians will not understand at first reading. And the following cannot be regarded as a happy bit of writing:

"What might the trees remember if devoutly importuned? By light of moon, on wind-swept morn and in the solitude of rain I teased them for the tale. At length the red mothers could not more deny a child the thing he begged. When I had turned the vision into stumbling words, Perlet I called—Perlet, who hearing with the blessed ear, sings in the sweeter key—and he sat with me and all the things he witnessed wrote he down in language of the soul."

Next year, it is hoped by many Bohemians, Will Irwin's grove play "The Hamadryads" will be revived. They regard this as the greatest of the plays, and many agree with Porter Garnett that it should be given once every ten years. Gelett Burgess was to write the play for 1914, but he asked to be given the World's Fair year instead and the request was granted. By the way, the play this year cost $15,000, and the club is thinking of selling the dramatic rights in order to "get out of the hole." The play was well advertised this year, as the rule excluding dramatic critics was repealed and all the papers had their representatives in the grove as the guests of the club.—Town Talk.

Washing Underworld Linen in Public

How long, O Lord, how long? How long is this rotten purveying of putrid things to continue? How long will the public of San Francisco continue to stand for this washing of the towels of the underworld in public? Is it any wonder that the nations of the world refuse to exhibit at our exposition? Who are our advertisers abroad? The avaters of the pallengenesis of filth. The moral lesson! Bunk, cheap, hypocritical bunk. The ten-year-old boys read it and the ten-year-old girls 'Splendid reading' A wonderful substitute for Louisa Olcott and Little Lord Fauntelroy' Nothing was shown—nothing except that the six-dollar-a-week girl is given the straight and certain path to damnation. Does it look like damnation? Not at all. For a time she shuddered at the recital. But finally, as she grinds at her sewing machine day in and day out, when her soul is weary and her heart torn with the eternal feminine envy for the gay plumage that the soul of her species craves, the inevitable decision comes. After all, what is this jewel she holds so priceless? Where is the return? She gets nothing for preserving it—nothing but the eternal click-click of the machines of the Stevenson-street sweat-shops.

Her sisters in feathers elbow her from the sidewalks, they elbow her from the trolley-car, or they ride by her in arrogance and disdain in their elegant limousines. She is as good as they. But the terrible crushing of the millstones of poverty and misbirth grind her down to the finest powder, pulverize her poor, stricken soul so fine that scarcely can she believe the recording angel of God may see it when the final accounting comes.

She has known the tempter hitherto; she has been taught by the bitter experience of her sisters to know his slick hair, his gaudy cravat, his sleek and unctuous way of argument; his ready familiarity with the little side-door where the innocent curtained box is and where the tired worker may tarry from home a few moments for a real dinner—with a glass of wine.

But now she knows a tempter of far more persuasive language—the newspaper tempter, speaking in the alluring guise of Newspaper Truth; parading in the guise of the slaver. Newspaper truth, turning all of his magnificent achievements of the centuries to dust; giving all of his fertile mine of ideas to the one horrible end of removing the brake of fear from prostitution—making of newspaper truth the newspaper slaver.

This is all that has been accomplished—aside from the circulation lists swollen by the purveyors to the basest, the meanest, the most sneaking curiosity the human kind is afflicted with

Is it an accomplishment that should make any normal man proud? It is not. It is something that some day will arise in a shuddering and gibbering train of the figures of lost hopes to torment the paranoic brain that conceived it; longer than the rain of Richard's ghosts, and infinitely more multitudinous, will the line of misshapen figures follow laughter the restless and shrunken soul of him that paraded in life as a manikin incarnation of newspaper truth.—Wasp.

Here Is One Type of New Woman

Nowadays the newspapers devote a good deal of attention to "Types of New Women." A leading New York daily has given a page to the biography of "Jane Burr." Some poems from Jane's pen embellish the page. On perusing the biography the discovery is made that the real reason for exploiting this new woman is that her maiden name was Guggenheim. It is a name to juggle with, for it is suggestive of hard cash in large chunks, and while we all despise wealth in public, between you and me, confidentially speaking, we would like to get our hooks on the despicable dross. It comes in so handy and then.

We can't all be rich unfortunately, but few of us are so needy that we cannot afford to buy a Sunday supplement If we have not the requisite nickel to buy a paper we may swipe one from a neighbor's doorstep.

Until it was discovered that "Jane Burr" was of the ilk of copper magnates and bankers, her socialistic leanings and eccentric capers on the back of Pegasus interested hardly anybody but herself. Her poetic muse found expression in the columns of little obscure socialistic periodicals. [illegible] in the columns of such an important newspaper as the New York Times.

Glancing over that journal's full-page description of the deeds, thoughts and versification of Mrs. Horatio Gates Guggenheim Winslow, alias "Jane Burr," one is inclined to ask himself what doth it advantage a woman if she gain a college education and lose touch with woman's true sphere?

Mrs. Winslow writes verse for the market and grinds it out in a little office in a big office building. She could save her office rent and increase her physical comfort by doing her writing at home; but there is a reason.

At home the feminine instinct grips her. She hankers for the needle and thread, and longs to potter amongst the dishes and the pans, and to dust behind the pictures and darn the curtains where the careless laundryman has left his ragged trademark. To put temptation behind her, Mrs. Winslow turns her back resolutely on her little flat in West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and locks herself in her dinky office with the name "Jane Burr" upon the door. Murmuring away at her typewriting machine, this daughter of the house of Guggenheim evolves such poetic potboilers as this:

THE WEDDING HIM.

Yes—
John had a brain like molasses;
His hair grew in heather masses;
  His iris was green
  And his whiskers between
Pine needles and decadent grasses.

But—
Since he'd no fathers nor mothers
Nor cousins nor sisters nor brothers—
  In all this broad nation
  Not one blanked relation—
She grabbed him and passed up the others.

It might be said that there is no excuse for that sort of thing, but the remark would be incorrect. There is a strong reason for making the Muses tie wet towels round their throbbing brows and taking to their couches with nervous headache. Being a type of "New Woman," with a college education, rich ancestry, and progressive ideas on the relations of the sexes, Mrs. Winslow cannot bear to be less independent than her husband. The bread she eats must be earned by herself, even if humanity be doomed to read her doggerel. For what did she burn the midnight oil and get her ribbon-tied certificate of scholarship at Washington University.

Mrs. Winslow's husband represents her second venture on the matrimonial sea. Her first embarkation was with a person bearing the suggestive name of Jack Punch. Mrs Winslow thought his name belied his attainments and divorced him. On the subject of divorce she has opinions of her own. She says:

"If it were not for the artificiality of the marriage bond as most people see it, there would be less race suicide, not more. Here is a bit of truth for you. Do you know why so many strong, healthy, able women in prosperous families refuse to have children? It is not because they hate children, but because they hate their husbands."

On the subject of marriage, too, she is unconventional, as we learn from her remarks on her second marriage. She has a hazy notion that it happened somewhere in New Jersey. She went through the ancient, conventional ceremony, and she still recalls dimly that throughout the reading she drummed with her fingers on the window. Touching on this reminiscence is bound to provoke the question: Why, with such liberal views, did she go through the marriage ceremony at all?

"Because I didn't feel equal to being a martyr. I have no objection to a contract of some sort, but to be of real value it should not bind the parties after either cares to leave the other. If either is ill, it is the duty of the other to stand by while the need of help continues, but beyond that it is a crime to tie a woman to a man she hates, and a crime to tie a man to a woman he hates."—Wasp.

Betrothal Rumors Spread Broadcast

[illegible] of a very popular and promising young physician who leaves this week for Europe, ostensibly to perfect his knowledge of medicine, but in reality Dame Rumor says to be near a certain young lady who has long since been the object of his adorations. The young lady has been on the other side for several months now, and every one has been expecting to hear that sooner or later the young doctor would turn his steps in the same direction whether the wedding will be the next news we get or whether it will be only the announcement of the betrothal.—Wasp.

Charley Fay and Rudolph Spreckels

Charlie Fay is going to succeed Arthur Fisk as postmaster in San Francisco. This comes to me from Washington as a "straight tip" upon which absolute reliance may be placed. The appointment will be a bitter disappointment to Rudolph Spreckels. Rudolph has filed a protest against the appointment of Fay and has been fighting tooth and nail to keep him out of the berth. This fact has led some to believe that there must have been a quarrel between Rudolph and James D. Phelan who is the political patron of Charlie Fay. But Spreckels and Phelan are still on cordial terms. Rudolph is fighting Fay because he regards him as a political follower of Gavin McNab. To be a "McNabite" is to be anathema to Rudolph. So Fay has fallen un- Spreckels takes the lofty position that he is against McNab because McNab is that quintessence of wickedness, a political boss. He has declared to his friends that he will down McNab if it takes him a lifetime of fighting. This is an interesting declaration of war, and I shall watch hostilities with interest, for if there is anywhere a foeman worthy the Spreckels steel it is Gavin McNab, hero [illegible] noted, however, that the politicians who are sceptical of motives (and that includes all the tribe) ascribe Rudolph's enmity toward McNab to a less elevated "peeve." It has long been told about the streets that Gavin McNab wrote for Mayor Rolph the celebrated "My Dear Rudolph" letter which answered Rudolph's "My Dear Jim" epistle and set the town a-chortle. There were epigrams of the McNab style in that letter, and Mayor Rolph is not an epigrammatist. The politicians say that Rudolph must have verified the rumor that Gavin wrote that letter; hence his peeve.

It may not be known that Rudolph has a candidate for the postmastership in opposition to Charlie Fay. This is none other than Edgar Apperson. As Apperson's does not seem to be a name of household celebrity I must identify him. He is on the Examiner. More than that, he is president of the Iroquois Club. Furthermore he is Grand High Muckamuck of the State League of Iroquois Clubs. The two titles, it may be explained, go together, for the only Iroquois Club in existence is the local aggregation of has-beens who hold a barbecue every year and solemnly elevate their president to the tremendous dignity of the more high-sounding position. Apperson is also backed by the San Francisco Democratic Club, a moribund organization with a membership of some seven or eight briefless lawyers and hungry pie-chasers. With the Iroquois braves and the San Francisco Democratic Club behind him Apperson went to Spreckels to be hall-marked. Rudolph found him chemically pure and eugenically innocuous, whereupon an opera bouffe attempt was made to have his candidacy advanced at Washington. But the backers of Charlie Fay have not lost any sleep. They know that Apperson will not be yanked away from the linotype to boss the big building at Seventh and Mission.—Town Talk.

Sir Francis' Progeny Were Many

"Bill" Levick, who is the general-in-chief of the publicity work for the Portola festival in October, serves a solemn word of warning that no more of Sir Francis Drake's descendants need apply. A week or two ago Levick, whose brilliant stunts are contributing largely to the growing enthusiasm throughout the country for the Portola, announced that a real, live Burke's Peerage descendant of Sir Francis Drake had been discovered and would be given an especial place of honor in the Portola parade. The next day after the publication of the item Levick had to fight his way through a congested jam of people, male and female, to get to his office. Puzzled at the unusual assemblage, Bill sent out his secretary to reconnoiter. "They all want places in the Portola parade," announced the secretary gravely. "They all say they are descendants of Sir Francis Drake." From which it would appear that Sir Francis, in addition to being an explorer of note, must have been a colonizer of no mean ability.—Wasp.

McLoughlin Feted by Admirers

Before sailing for home last week, Maurice McLoughlin, the San Francisco boy who saved the day for America at the Wimbledon tennis tournament, was the recipient of numerous invitations and was made much over by the English aristocracy. McLoughlin was called "the pet of Wimbledon," from his thoroughly sportsmanlike and gentlemanly bearing on the courts at all times. Williams and Johnson of the American team were cosharers in the affairs of honor.—Wasp.

Need of Advertising the Big Fair

When William Woodhead of this city returned from Baltimore where he had been chosen president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America he gave out an interview which created considerable consternation at the fair headquarters in Pine street. Woodhead said that the fair was not being properly advertised in the East; that the ordinary salaried man was not being urged to save up for a vacation in San Francisco during the fair months; and that information about the fair and about the cost of coming to this city was not being diffused. Now it appears that what Woodhead said of our own country applies also to Europe, for it is not to be supposed that Germany alone has been ignored in a European advertising campaign. What holds true of Germany probably holds true of the other countries of Europe. The people are not being told about the wonderful spectacle though the Fair people ought to get busy. A very serious situation awaits their prompt and decisive handling.—Town Talk.

Timothy Healy, Now Attorney-at-Law

Speaking of newspapermen who have taken up the law—and there are many notable figures at the Western bar who served their apprenticeship grinding out "copy" brings to mind that "Tim" Healy, who has been with the Evening Post for the past five years, has just entered the offices of John L. McNab. Healy was a dynamic newspaperman, and his successful future in his new work is just as definitely assured as was his newpaper success. He had one qualification that I don't recall in any other newspaperman who came out here from New York to work. He never had worked on the "Sun under Dana." It used to be an awful chestnut for eastern newspapermen to come into town and post up to the first city editor they could find [illegible] that they were just from the "Sun." They all seemed to think it was the open sesame to a job, the old "Sun" always having been regarded as the great American newspaper. But Tim tried a different tack. When he hit the town and asked for a job a cynical city editor asked him: "Just from the 'Sun,' I suppose?" "No," replied Healy, "never worked a day on the 'Sun' in my ten years' New York ex- [illegible] itor recovered his breath he hired Healy on the spot.—Wasp.

The Hobart Trio Dress Alike

I don't know whether or not it is a fashion for mothers and daughters to be gowned alike, or just a fancy of Mrs. Hobart. Any way the effect was charming when I saw her the other day, a picture in old blue Oriental brocade with her two girls Hannah and Ruth in costumes of the same color and material, evidently found in some bazaar of the East. It was beautifully soft and light and wonderfully becoming to the blonde loveliness of Mrs. Hobart. The trio wore hats alike, small black straw chapeaux simply adorned and as I said the effect was charming. They attracted no end of attention in the shops where they were buying things for the new house in Burlingame. Mrs. Hobart has established herself not far from where she lived as a bride, but seems serenely unconcerned by the associations of the neighborhood. Walter, who lives not far away, frequently sees his pretty young daughter, of whom he is very fond, but the idle gossip of a possible reconciliation is laughed at by the Hobarts' friends. Other romances are in the air.—Town Talk.

Now Its "Weskit" the Women Adopted

The very latest, at least up to time of writing, in women's wearing apparel to descend upon San Francisco is the new "Weskit," and a few of these interesting species of the hybrid dress garment have been seen, properly placed, of course, in the corridors of some of our leading hotels. The "Weskit," while possibly more daring than any man would wear around his waist, and call it a vest, is nevertheless a very catchy article of feminine attire. The watch and chain, the fountain pen and the pencil will soon follow as adjuncts. And some say they expect the cigarette and match case to be added as well. Such is the daring of the invasion of woman of rights which poor man had thought were all his own. What is this old world coming to, anyway?—News Letter.

Carpenter's Success Adds to S. F. Fame

San Francisco seems to be doing her share toward supplying magazines, publishers and the stage with material. Grant Carpenter is the latest to command the attention from Broadway that counts—financial attention. On Monday Carpenter received a telegram from his agent in New York announcing that an advance check had just been mailed him on a contract for the production of "The Dragon's Claws," which Carpenter dramatized from one of his series of Chinatown stories which appeared in Sunset Magazine last year. The advance check is of very healthy proportions and the royalty percentages are of the requisite attractive proportions. Probably there is not a writer in the West today, possibly not in this country or elsewhere, so thoroughly versed as Carpenter in the strange and incomprehensible—to Western minds—life of the Chinese. Carpenter was for many years a newspaper reporter, and one of the best of his day. He worked on "police" in the days when Little Pete was the big man in Chinatown and when the hatchet men of the tongs celebrated with festive frequency. He knew his Chinatown like a book. Later he was admitted to the bar and became attorney for several of the powerful tongs and for many of the merchant princes of that quarter. But the writing itch never left him, and several years ago he began to put down on paper the romance of the Chinese of today. This series of stories in Sunset attracted wide attention. The play is the second he has recently sold, both turning on Chinese life and character.—Wasp.

Mrs. Peter's Mot Was Quick Retort

I am reminded by the return of the Peter Martins to San Francisco of a retort with which Mrs. Peter Martin once flabbergasted Queen Eleanor. It was shortly after the engagement of Lily Oelrichs to Peter Martin was announced, and it was the occasion of Lily's first inspection of the Martin residence in Broadway under the guidance of her mother-in-law-to-be.

"This," said Mrs. Martin with a certain perceptible pride, as they entered an apartment, "this, Lily, is our Louis Qua- [illegible]

Miss Oelrichs looked about her, and then quite cooly she asked:

Once More the Tiger Smiles Grimly

The political situation in New York has been greatly muddled as a result of the nomination of John Purroy Mitchel for Mayor by the Fusion Committee. This committee was organized for the time-honored purpose of putting Tammany out of business in municipal politics, and now it appears to have played into the hands of Mayor Gaynor by nominating a man on whom has fallen the shadow of William R. Hearst. It is a curious situation and it is exciting a great deal of interest. Whatever may be the outcome it is certain at this time that the reformers are as one New York paper says, chagrined to note the uncommonly cool, not to say chilling way in which the selection of Mitchel has been received. The Fusionists themselves have split over the nomination. The Republican members of [illegible] Attorney Whitman did not receive the nomination. He was renominated for his present job, and his friends are urging him to bolt. The friends of Borough President McAneny are dissatisfied, and though he accepted renomination after two days' deliberation, his letter of acceptance is in the nature of a smash, as the Sun points out, at the head of the ticket. He [illegible] not because he would have control of only three votes out of the sixteen in the [illegible] though Mitchel was nominated by the Progressive members of the committee, are dissatisfied. Bull Moose Munsey in his paper pronounces the whole performance "unintelligent," and adds, "Mr. Mitchel hasn't known in the last three and a half years as much about the problems of New York as Mayor Gaynor has known in three and a half minutes." From all of which it would appear that the reformers weren't so smart as they thought when they renominated Whitman, McAneny and Controller Prendergast for the purpose of pulling through young Mr. Mitchel.

Mitchel, by the way is the typical reformer, as I learn from the Sun, which says: "There can be no doubt of his cleverness, of his instinct for public attention or his capability to make and forget friends." Mr. Mitchel, though only 34 years of age, came first into prominence as president of New York's Board of Estimate. When Mayor Gaynor was lying dangerously wounded three years ago, Mr. Mitchel, by virtue of his position was acting Mayor of New York. He has been a job chaser ever since he came out of school, and he was connected with the McClellan administrator as a special prosecutor. He is a radical of the radicals, and he is much esteemed by Mr. Hearst because of his Socialist views and because he bitterly opposed the subway contracts which were put through by McAneny, [illegible] his success in overcoming Hearst's opposition. That Mitchel is a shrewd politician, skilled in the art of playing all ends, is evident from the fact that his nomination is pleasing both to Mr. Hearst and President Wilson, who appointed him Collector of Port.—Town Talk.

Why Germany Won't Exhibit

There is a strong sentiment among German manufacturers against exhibiting at our World's Fair, and the outlook is extremely gloomy. In government and industrial circles in Berlin a strange reason is given for this indifference. The Germans say in effect that if they do not participate in 1915 we ourselves will be to blame. They state that no attempt has been made to create interest in the fair among German business men. They point out that Germans have been in a position to learn merely that San Francisco was to have an exposition; nothing was told them about the scope of the fair, the grandeur of the plans and so on. In other words our World's Fair has not been adequately advertised in Germany, the interest of Germans has not been intrigued and they have not been impressed with the great advantages they will derive from an exhibit here.—Town Talk.

Long Live This Old-fashioned Fad

When John Pipkin, of Sultana, was haled before Judge Allen of the juvenile court on the charge of having contributed to the delinquency of a minor, he no doubt thought his lines were cast in pretty hard places, especially as he had only taken the young lady for a buggy ride which, according to the young lady's own mother, was the only offense Pipkin was guilty of. The good sense of the court, however, set John's mind at ease, and incidentally his person at liberty, thus justifying the assertion that the law is the essence of all reason. I say long live the law that refuses to place a ban on the old-fashioned but still popular buggy ride which ardent swains find so alluring on moonlit nights.—News Letter.

A Chaste Poster, But Really—

The Portola festival is being advertised far and wide not only by means of the official poster but by means also of an equally effective poster that has been circulated by the alert publicity department of the Southern Pacific Company. This railroad poster is a spirited one and colorful. It has the true Spanish flavor, being a picture of a black-eyed senorita in the midst of a whirling dance, the music for which is supplied by a sombreroed guitar player with a cigarette in his mouth. I fear that the impure minded ladies of the Portland W. C. T. U. who have paid the official poster the tribute of their disapproval will not be able to do as much for the railroad poster for the senorita, though animated enough, makes no sensuous appeal. She reveals only the curves of one ankle. However, if the ladies will scrutinize the guitar player their minds and their thoughts on his legs perhaps they may suggest themselves [illegible]—Town Talk.

The Meddler

NOW that many prominent people are home again, preparations go busily forward for the coming winter. That the many clubs may be a success, the leaders must plan far in advance, and even now plans are being arranged for each month of the season. Programs are being now practically made up, and each club president is holding early meetings with her board of directors. Each club wishes to present something new, something unique [illegible] thing that will hold the interest of the members and make them feel that the club influence is of value in their lives. It is a difficult problem in these days. So the club leaders are always on the lookout for distinguished people in the lecture field. All clubs wish to have "a literary lion" first. The older clubs are having a very hard time keeping the center of the field of interest and they are being gradually forced from their position of importance by the newer clubs, which represent women's interest in the great problems of the day. These later clubs claim to be study clubs in the truest sense of the word. And California leads the line of advance, both in its Oakland and San Francisco clubs. The dancing clubs are in many cases making new rules, and most of them concern the young men on the invitation lists. Those who have not taken the trouble in the past to either accept or decline an invitation will not be again invited, so when no card reaches them this year they will probably know why.

Higher standards are being demanded, not only by the mothers, but by the girls themselves for the superior education of today is doing a great deal for the girls, and it is no longer a question of having a program filled, but the sort of names that are on it.

At all the dances last year there were more men than girls, and the latter were in the very comfortable position of being able to choose their partners.

It is not settled yet in regard to the Junior dances, though there seems to be a very general desire for them. It is certain, however, that the Friday Night dances will be continued, and probably the same patronesses will direct affairs, and they will be given at the Hotel Oakland. Both here and across the bay there is an increasing desire to have the dances end early, as the men do not belong to a leisure class and they must have clear heads for the day's work. Mr. Greenway is still at Tahoe and he has not yet formulated his plans for the dances of the coming winter.

It is said the ban is off rag dancing at Del Monte, at the Potter and at Castle Crag, and, consequently, it will be off when society gathers for dancing in the well-known clubs of the winter. But that is not entirely true. Society no longer tries to turkey trot, nor to dance the very objectionable rag which made its appearance some months ago. Much that was objectionable has been eliminated, and some really beautiful dances have been evolved. The Spanish dances have always been very lovely, very graceful, and it is on their lines that the "Tango Argentino," the tango of the Argentine in South America, has been based. Society is dancing the tango and the fascinating one-step. The tango is difficult, but some of our young people dance it most beautifully, and even the great Pauloma is now dancing it on the stage in London. The one-step is easier and the Boston dip is not difficult, and all of them are to be practically allowed in the new dances of the winter. But none of them represent "the turkey trot" and the like dances that horrified society. One interesting thing about the new dances is that they carry an appeal to almost everyone, and the elderly man or matron is carried away with the irresistible rythm, and the first thing one knows they are in the midst of the dancers, "capering away" in steps when they fondly fancy to be the "tango." And dances which make the old young again are not to be lightly regarded. So the safe thing to do is to eliminate what may be objectionable and to give the dances proper name, for the "tango" is infinitely better than the "rag."

FASHION'S COMEDY IS HOLDING THE STAGE.

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men"— [illegible] women, too, for that matter. We [illegible] like "our little joke"; we are all [illegible] to be amused, and nothing is so [illegible] than the hints of the new [illegible] that have just descended [illegible] upon us from picturesque [illegible] wear these fashions oneself, but it is immensely amusing to know that there are many people who will, and that in the very near future a walk down our main streets, or a cup of tea in our main hotels, will afford more [illegible] than anything the vaudeville stage has given us in months.

For on their way to us are dresses with cuffs around the bottom, and the insistent cry comes over the waters, "instead of lacing the waist, pad it." The larger the waist the more fashionable you are. That, too, is a decree of fashion. The hips remain small, but the waist must be nearly as large as the hips. The new skirts are puffed and ruffled just below the hips. Then they get tighter and tighter toward the bottom. The draped, puffed skirt, which is long and clings round the ankles, and the small hat to go to make up the new "barrel silhouette" that is said to be beautiful, in spite of its humble name.

Some of the latest [illegible] make themselves heard across the ocean. The "barrel silhouette." Weirdly embroidered stockings. Draped skirts and ruffled skirts. Waists so wide they must sometimes be padded.

Women to be fashionable must carry canes. They must wear monocles. They may even carry canaries or small green parrots in gilt cages. [illegible] must be unusual pet dogs, not the old-fashioned kind such as poodles. Or if one objects to live things, one may carry a new parasol, which looks like half a melon.

But to be in style one must carry something!

All of which will be infinitely amusing when we actually see it put in practice. For there are always people who represent the extremes—who love to pose in public for the benefit of the many. Dame Fashion may have been responsible for much that was amusing in the past, but she has never been so undignified; she has never cut up such absurd capers as in the present year. However, many really well-dressed women are [illegible] black, or else their gowns are of black with white, and the truly smart women [illegible] for street [illegible] a hat of tulle with great flyaway bows, or a hat of black velvet trimmed so that the heavy appearance is eliminated.

CABLE NEWS CONTAINS AMERICAN NAMES.

Foreign news always contains for us matters of unusual interest, for Americans are so definitely part of life abroad these days.

Ambassador Page is making many friends in London, and he will remain there until next week, when he will go to Southampton to dedicate the memorial to the Pilgrim Fathers. [illegible] a guest at house parties in Scotland, and he will spend a month in that delightful country.

Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels, with her children, and her sister, Miss Gertrude Joiliffe will sail for home, August 26. They have had a most delightful time in England, where they have been guests of Rudolph Spreckels' sister, Mrs. John Ferris.

The latter was Miss Emma Spreckels, and her romantic marriage made an exciting chapter in the social annals of San Francisco. Her first husband died abroad, and later, she married Mr. John Ferris, a well known Englishman. They have a delightful country estate near London. Mrs. Ferris comes very seldom to San Francisco and then only because her business interests brings her to the coast. She has always been great friends with her brother, Rudolph Spreckels, and his family have had a most enjoyable visit in her English home.

A hostess in England, who is very delightful to American visitors there, is Mrs. Winston Churchill. She is a good political leader and helps her husband in every way. She proved equal to an emergency in England recently. About 120 of her husband's constituents at Dundee came to London on a trip, and it was arranged that Mrs. Churchill should entertain them at luncheon at the House of Commons. When the luncheon hour came it was found that the guests numbered 225 instead of the expected 120. Several Dundonians questioned the bona fides of some of the party, alleging that they were Glasgow men who had joined the party owing to the allurement of a free luncheon, but Mrs. Churchill settled the difficulty by arranging for all to be regaled, making [illegible]

Mr. Frank Carolan is in San Francisco for a few weeks, and the country place of the Carolans, "The Crossways," at Burlingame has been opened for the autumn. Mrs. James Carolan and her daughter, Miss Emily Carolan, are occupying the beautiful home there. Mr. Carolan will return to Paris early in September, and will join Mrs. Carolan in their handsome apartments in the Rue Nitol. They will not return to the coast until early in the winter.

Mrs. James Carolan is entertaining at "Crossways," her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Timlow of Philadelphia. The latter was formerly the beautiful Miss Evelyn Carolan.

The Templeton Crockers have spent the summer abroad, and have taken passage for home on the finest ship afloat, the Imperator. They will visit Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, at Cedarhurst, her Long Island home, and then they will come directly to the coast. They have spent most of the summer in Italy, visiting old Italian palaces, and studying various effects in Italian architecture. They have also been buying tapestries and furnishings for their new home in San Mateo. It is a very fine thing that Californians are beginning to study the styles of architecture best suited to our climate, and to study also the kind of house best suited to a hill,—or to a valley. Lovely homes are being developed in the bay region. Mrs. Templeton Crocker is trying to reproduce an Italian palace that is of rare beauty of line and design. Mrs. Carolan has chosen for her model a French chateau, and she is bringing to Burlingame a real room of a chateau in France, and it will be a rare bit of the old world, set up in a new chateau at Burlingame. Out on Broadway in San Francisco, the Italian palace of the Floods is nearly completed, and they also have brought rare Italian carvings, from wonderful Italian palaces, to add beauty and distinction to their home. So that the Floods, the Crockers and the Carolans have spent very busy days abroad this summer.

Clarence Mackay is abroad with his mother, Mrs. John W. Mackay, the latter very well known in California. Mrs. Mackay has her little granddaughters with her also. She has many homes abroad, but prefers to spend the greater part of her time in Paris. The Princess Colonna, her daughter, makes her home in Rome. [illegible] the separation of the Mackays, and one hears rumors too that Clarence Mackay has spent a great deal of money—even for a millionaire. Mrs. Clarence Mackay wanted even the door knobs of her new home to be of gold, and she has had a perfect passion for rare jewels. In her collection she has a sapphire that cost $150,000, and she owns an emerald that once belonged to Catherine of Russia. The late John W. Mackay, a former Pacific coast millionaire, was very generous, and his son was given an enormous fortune, which he has been spending apparently with great success.

Justice Gerard, who is the American ambassador to Berlin, is having a hard time finding an establishment commensurate with the dignity of his duties, and with his salary as well. He writes of his plans: "I have just come for an inquiry into the burning question how many pots, pans, skillets, and other housekeeping utensils are required to enable me to start out right when I go to work. I have been here only half a day, but I have seen and heard enough to indicate that the problem bristles with difficulties which would do credit to a diplomatic incident." Housekeeping, when you are an ambassador is far from an easy proposition.

And apropos of housekeeping one reads that "a wave of economy" is sweeping over Europe, and as our smart sets are inclined to follow European examples, the "wave" may find its way across to us. It is said to be due to Queen Mary of England, the well known champion of home life.

One hears that she has begun a campaign of household economy that has carried consternation into the royal kitchens at Buckingham and Windsor. "Buckingham Palace has been struggling along with a kitchen staff of only 28 and Windsor has had to manage with 24. The Queen, who learned a few things from the pinch of poverty in her girlhood, is threatening to reduce their meagre force still more. The royal chef is not used to queens who know how to run kitchens and cook meals—and he doesn't like it."

And where Queen Mary leads the way other people may safely follow without any loss of dignity.

Life is along very attractive lines abroad this year, and two of the most picturesque and most expensive watering places, or summer resorts, are Trouville and Deanville. One only stays at either place a month at the longest. One can always trust Mrs. John Mackay to be in the line of advance, and so she is to be at Deanville. And Mrs. Potter Palmer, whose world wide success came to her by way of the great Chicago exposition, is at Deanville. She has with her the Duchesse de la Rochefoucauld, who was Mattie Mitchell of Oregon. The two are traveling to Trouville by motor car, a more comfortable way of making the journey. Mrs. Palmer, by the way, has changed the colors of her liveries, the well known chocolate brown suits that her coachman and footman always wore in Chicago having been replaced by taupe colored liveries which are smart and up to date.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Jr., who has been dividing her time for the past two months between Paris and Versailles, left the Ritz Hotel last week for Carlsbad and Switzerland. Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was formerly Birdie Fair, travels a great deal in a very restless fashion. She keeps her children with her, and they have governesses who travel with them, and try to keep lesson hours as well as they can, in the midst of the strenuous whirl of incessant travel.

SEASON'S "PLAYTIME" NOT YET ENDED.

August finds many peope still in the world's great pleasure grounds. If one is abroad one finds them in the Land of the Midnight Sun, in the Hebrides, in Ostend, Trouville, the Italian Lakes, or Switzerland, and in our own country they are tourists in Yosemite,—in the Yellowstone,—at Banff—at Newport, at Bar Harbor, at Coronado, at Monterey, at Shasta, or at Castle Crags. That part of the smart set which travels extensively is learning to amuse itself in various unusual ways this year. Switzerland is a great playground, and travelers are planning to go there for winter sports, for skating, skiing and toboganing. Mountain climbing is a great fad of the hour, and many pounds are known to melt away before the hard work. Everybody swims at Newport, and well known women of the smart set spend much time in walking. In the many centers of summer amusements, people fondly fancy they are playing,—when they are, in fact doing the hardest work of their lives.

Not so much auction has been [illegible] a reaction against it having set in. It has become essentially a winter game, and besides there has been [illegible] great reluctance to go away and do the same social things in the summer that have interested one in the winter. And after all, it is the "out of doors" that is of interest, wherever one is this summer. It has been a summer of most unusual activities,—with riding, driving, motoring, tennis, golf, polo, mountain climbing,—all in the ascendant, and the young girl or young matron who does not return from her summer outing, "brown as a berry," has without question missed a great opportunity.

TAHOE PICNIC IN MISS HEINRICH'S HONOR

Among the large social dates of last week was a delightful picnic given by Mr. and Mrs. Queen at Lake Tahoe, in honor of Miss Josephine Heinrichs, the popular fiancee of Joseph Rosborough. Mr. and Mrs. Queen chartered the Tavern yacht, and took their guests to beautiful [illegible] Harbor on the shores of Tahoe, where luncheon was served, and a delightful afternoon enjoyed. The Tevis brothers, who were among the guests, took their beautiful yacht, the Consuelo, and the Frederick Kohls went to the picnic in their yacht, the Idylwild.

Among the guests so delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Queen were:

Mrs. Henry Crocker
Henry Crocker Jr.
Clark Crocker
Misses Marian and Kate Crocker
Judge and Mrs. Slack

CRELLINS RETURN TO TOWN HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crellin have closed their summer home at Ben Lomond, and are again in their home on Jackson street. The Misses Crellin are attending the University, where they are very popular, and the opening of the college year, has in many cases meant the closing of summer homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh have returned from the mountains, after several weeks spent in their home in the high Sierras. Mrs. Walsh's many friends were very sorry to hear of the passing of her talented niece, Mrs. Etha Garlick, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Garlick. She was a lovable and most popular young matron, and much regret is everywhere expressed for the sorrow her passing has brought to her family.

AUGUST MONTH OF CHARM IN MOUNTAINS.

August is a lovely month in the mountains, and many well known people are still away, living out summer days in the heart of pine woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry East Miller have a most picturesque summer home near Castella, which is not far from Shasta Springs, and they have been spending the summer there. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Waldron, and their daughter, Miss Marjory Waldron, are at Crag's View, near Castella, and there also, the Charles Leonard Smiths are spending the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Woodward, and their daughters, the Misses Gwendolen and Phyllis Woodward, and son, Ervin, have returned from a delightful trip to the East and abroad. They have opened their beautiful home at the base of the Berkeley foothills, and it is one of the most artistic and one of the most hospitable homes in our neighboring college city. The young girls of the family are very pretty, with sweet, charming manners, and Miss Gwendolen Woodward may be one of the debutantes of the coming winter.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Coogan are planning an Eastern trip, and they will leave for New York in the near future. They have relatives in the East who will entertain them extensively, and make their visit a very happy one, and they will return to California late in the autumn.

Mrs. B. A. Forsterer and her children, who spent their vacation this year at Camp Awahnee, have returned to town, having greatly enjoyed their stay in the wonderful Yosemite valley.

Mrs. George McNear Jr. with her son and with her daughter, Miss Einnim McNear, has gone to Boyd's ranch in Contra Costa county, where they will spend the month of August. The McNears have a very picturesque home at Port Costa, and life in the summer there, with yachting in the straits and in the upper bay, is very

Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Smith have returned to their Piedmont home, after a summer spent in the Santa Cruz mountains. Miss Alice Smith will this year be a pupil in the beautiful convent of the "Madames" at Menlo.

Mrs. Frances A. Thomas and her two sons, spent the summer at McCrays. They are home again, and Mrs. Thomas is once more making her friends welcome in her Piedmont home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin, who went East to meet the Peter Martins on their return from Europe, have arrived in San Francisco. The Peter Martins did not come west with them. Peter Martin, who has been very ill indeed, is better, and Mrs. Martin preferred to remain with her relatives in Newport, though she is not taking part in the social activities there. Her parents have a cottage there, and so have Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thomas, the latter, formerly Miss Bianche Oelrichs. She is one of the most beautiful women in Newport, and her husband, Leonard Thomas of Newport is a multi-millionaire. All her family are very devoted to Mrs. Peter Martin, and they prefer to have her in the East with them during the days of her husband's convalescence.

At Newport, there is to be an original opera presented by prominent ladies and gentlemen of the summer colony, if certain plans of the composer, Leonard Mr. Thomas of Newport, New York, and Philadelphia, are carried out.

Mr. Thomas writes delightful music, plays the violin and 'cello cleverly. He and Mrs. Thomas, who sings as well as she paints, have charmed more than once their many friends in their drawing room. The opera is in two acts and it may see professional presentation.

YATES-HIGH WEDDING SEPTEMBER EVENT.

An early autumn wedding is set for September 10, that of Miss Bessie Yates, and Mr. Ralph High. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Yates, and it is being planned along lines of simplicity, in accord with the wishes of the bride-elect, who is a very charming girl. Mr. Ralph High is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William High, and both he and Miss Yates are popular graduates of the University of California.

GIVE BEACH PICNIC NEAR SAN RAFAEL.

Mrs. Truxton Beale and her sister, Miss Alice Oge, have been among the most untiring of the summer hostesses. They have recently returned from Washington, where they met many distinguished people, through Mr. Beale's sister, Madame Bakmatieff, who is the wife of the Russian ambassador, and one of the most brilliant women in the executive circle of Washington.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Truxton Beale and Mrs. Alexander Lilley gave a beach picnic at San Rafael. Supper was served in a sheltered cove, after which there were launch rides in the bay near Marin. The evening ended with a dance at the [illegible] cluded many prominent people who have homes near San Rafael and at Ross.

Word has been received of the safe arrival in the Islands of Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Robert Newell, and Mrs. George Wilhelm. They had a most enjoyable trip to the islands, with not one of the trio ill at all. They are now being extensively entertained by friends there.

The coming fortnight of sports at Del Monte will attract many prominent people from all around the bay. The polo tournament begins there August 29, and the activities will continue until September 13.

Among those who will go to Del Monte for the late summer activities are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crocker, the Misses Ethel and Helen Crocker, and William Crocker Jr. The latter is much interested in athletics, and was of the "varsity crew" to England for the famous annual boat race at Henley.

Mrs. Hearst spent some days recently at Del Monte, and she had as her guest there, Mrs. Anthony of Boston, who is spending some time this summer at the Hacienda.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proctor and Miss Clarisse Lohse are spending August days at Del Monte, and at this well known hotel also are Mrs. A. N. Towne and Mrs. Worden, who are, as usual established there for the summer.

BUTTERS-TEAGUE WEDDING INTERESTS OAKLANDERS.

One of the interesting mid-summer weddings was that of Miss Marguerite Butters and Mr. Charles Teague, which took place on Thursday evening in the ball room of the Palace Hotel. [illegible] late Mrs. Henry Butters, and her home was for many years at Alta Vista, the home of the Butters at Piedmont. She is a graduate of the Sacred Heart Convent—our convent by the lake. Mr. Teague is a landowner of Fresno, he is a widower, and very prominent socially in San Joaquin county.

The ball room of the Palace was a very attractive study in pink, which was the color scheme of the decorations. It was carried out in amaryllis and pink roses, and was very bright and effective.

The bride, Miss Butters, wore an exceedingly handsome wedding gown of white satin, with duchesse lace, and her wedding veil was of the same lace, and was fastened with orange blossoms and with pearl ornaments. The two little daughters of the Paul Edwards, Peggy and Thelma, were charming flower girls as they attended their aunt, the bride, and her only other attendant was Mrs. Victor Metcalf Jr. (Marie Butters). She was gowned in pink, beautifully trimmed in lace, and she carried a large armful of lovely pink roses. The ushers were Lloyd Griffin and Gordon Crane, and Mr. Teague was attended by his brother, L. A. Teague, as best man.

The ceremony was performed by Father Lacombe of Menlo Park, and was followed by a wedding supper, the guests numbering about forty, and including for the most part relatives of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Teague have gone East on a wedding trip and on their return their home will be in Fresno.

Since the passing of Mrs. Butters, her daughters, Mrs. Metcalf and Miss Butters have not spent much time in Oakland. They have had their own apartment across the bay, and they have traveled extensively. They spent some time with their sister in the Philippines, and have spent also many months in the Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edwards, (Dolly Tarpey), have a delightful home in [illegible] after the wedding of Mr. Edwards' sister, Miss Butters.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Reproduced on this page is a reproduction of Miss Sue Uridge, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] avenue, who will be a bride of the coming season. The engagement of Miss Uridge to William Salt, who comes from a prominent eastern family and is well known in business circles in Sacramento was announced early last month. Miss Uridge is a graduate of Miss Ransom's school for young ladies and possesses both a charm of manner and a soprano voice of rare quality. The bride-elect is a sister of Mrs. L. D. Byrne, whose wedding was an event several seasons ago.

Miss Hazel Orear and Miss Helen Murphy whose portraits are reproduced in the Meddler are two popular young debutantes who will make their formal bow into society the coming season. Both the girls are graduates of Miss Hamlin's select school and their entrance into society is loked forward to with great pleasure.

Miss Margaret Garthwaite, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Garthwaite, has centered her interest in dancing and one hears that she is quite an artist in her work. Miss Garthwaite has just recently returned with her mother from a sojourn in Mendocino county.

MISS MILDRED BOYNE TO WED CHARLES KUTZ.

An engagement recently announced is of interest to many people on both sides of the bay, that of Charles Cunningham Kutz and Miss Mildred Eloise Boyne.

The bride-elect comes of a very well known family, one of the pioneer families of the State, one who helped to make early history well worth while. She is the grand-daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wade, the daughter of Mrs. Edward F. Taylor, and a niece of Mrs. Joseph Mathews and Mrs. Arthur Holland. Mr. Kutz is the son of Admiral and Mrs. Kutz, who are so popular and so well known in navy circles on this coast. His sister is Mrs. Arthur Crist of Washington, who was formerly Miss Kitty Kutz.

One hears that the wedding will take place early next year, and meantime there is sure to be much entertaining for the pretty young bride-elect.

Society

EAST BAY society folk were the recipients of a pleasant surprise yesterday afternoon when Miss Julia Leigh became the bride of Richard E. Dierssen, a prominent insurance man of San Francisco. The announcement of the wedding came as a complete surprise, although the couple had been friends for some time and no announcement of the engagement had been made public.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Adams of Telegraph avenue, who is a sister of the bride. The rooms were effectively decorated in pink Amaryllis and ferns. Only the immediate relatives and a few close friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Clifton Macon, rector of Trinity Episcopal church. The bride was unattended and wore a stunning traveling gown of black and white check, with a plumed hat to match. Her corsage bouquet was of orchids. The couple left for their honeymoon trip after the wedding dinner. They will reside in Oakland after their return.

The bride is a charming and winsome girl and is the aunt of Mrs. William Cavalier and of Miss Nellie Adams. Her father was the late J. W. Leigh, formerly a prominent newspaper man of San Francisco. JANE ADDAMS SCORES LAWS MADE FOR WOMEN BY MEN

Declares Many Reform Measures Are Not Suitable

No Relief Given in Recent Statutes Adopted by States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Miss Jane Addams of Chicago last night addressed a mass meeting, marking the conclusion of a conference here of the National Council of Women Voters, representing about 4,000,- states.

Urging the need for universal woman suffrage, Miss Addams declared that women should have the franchise, not only to bring about intelligent humanitarian legislation, but in order to be in a position to follow it into intelligent enforcement.

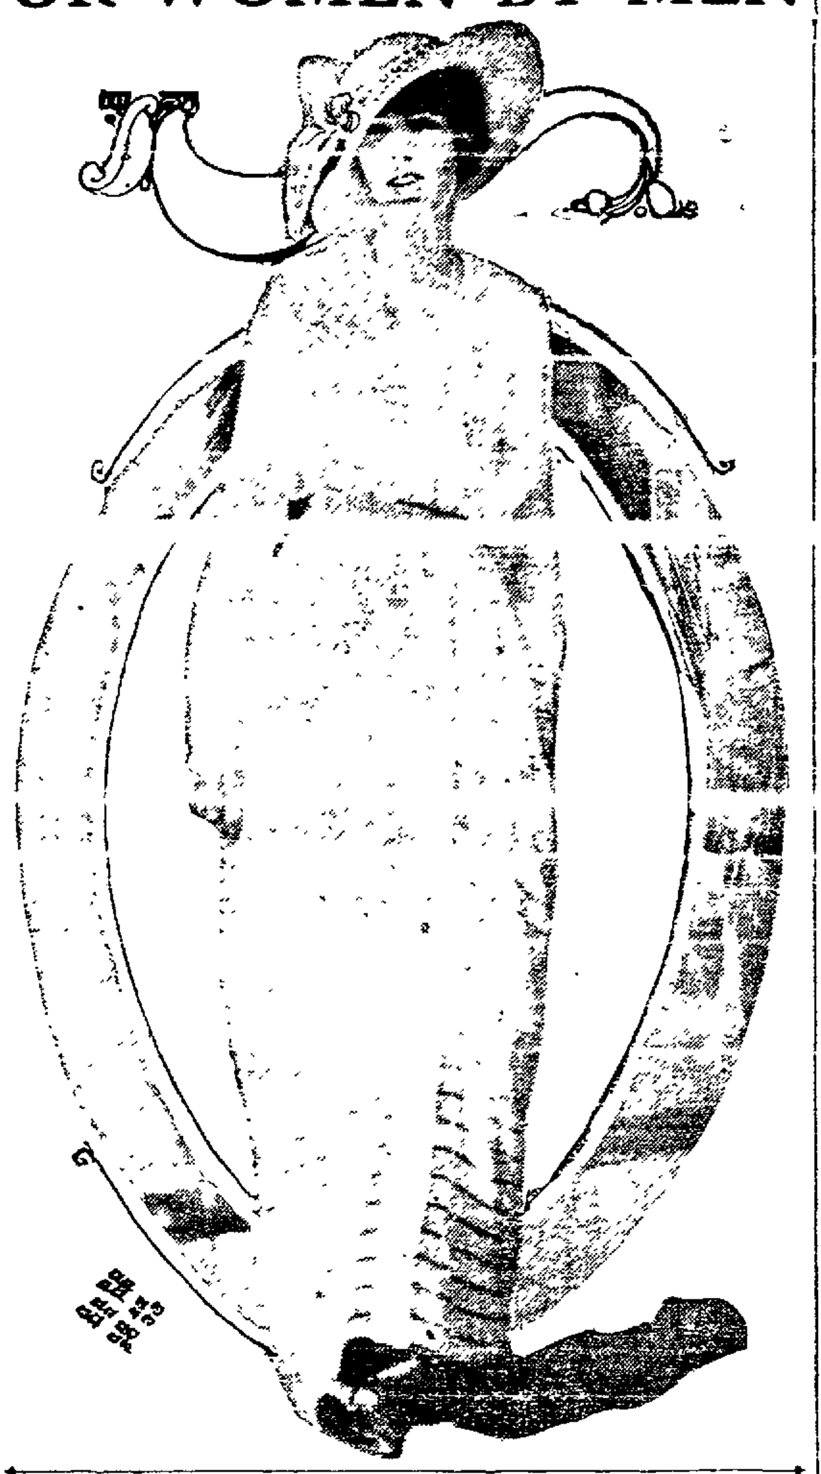
"More than one woman can recall" she said, "some cherished project that has been so modified by uninformed legislators during the process of legal enactment [illegible] very people it was meant to protect.

"She has discovered that the unrepresented are always [illegible] given what they do not need by legislators who merely wish to placate them. A child labor law exempts street trades, the most dangerous of all trades to the child's morals; a law releasing mothers from petty industry that they may rear worthy children provides so inadequate a pension that overburdened women continue to face the necessity of neglecting their young in order to feed them.

The women police and juvenile officers and feminine presiding officers of marital relations and moral courts carrying out the orders of men "may come to be a travesty on what women charged with responsibility could accomplish."

The final session of the council today discussed plans for the new bureau of political education for women voters. Miss Helen Todd of San Francisco was placed in charge of the bureau, which will undertake to mold into a cohesive body the constantly increasing number of feminine voters in this country.

The council indorsed motherhood pensions, minimum wages for women, health certificates for marriage, workingmen's compensation act, extension of the eight hour law, teachers' pensions, the "red light" law, or Iowa injunction and abolishment law, industrial training schools for delinquent girls and anti-capital punishment laws.



MISS MARGARET ANDREWS, WHOSE ENGAGEMENT HAS BEEN REPORTED TO VINCENT ASTOR.
—Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

ENGAGED TO ASTOR; GIRL IS ATHLETE

NEWPORT, Aug. 16.—Margaret Andrews, the young society debutante, who, on her "coming out," last year, was announced, is engaged to Vincent Astor, the heir to the immense Astor estate. Miss Andrews is an enthusiastic follower of the rowing, swimming, yachting and motoring sports and can be seen at almost all the big sporting events at which society is represented. Miss Andrews is a close and formidable rival of Miss Eleanor Sears, the famous sportswoman whose achievements in sports are almost world-famous. It was reported that Miss Andrews would race Harold Vanderbilt's yacht this season.

BAR PORTOLA POSTER BUT NEVER SAW IT

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 16.—If an attempt is made to display the famous Portola Festival posters bearing the figure of a dancing woman only partly clad, there will be quick action on the part of the Federation of W. C. T. U. of the city, according to action taken by that organization yesterday.

Several leaders of the local W. C. T. U. bodies in a meeting today expressed themselves as only waiting for a chance to see the pictures, when the strenuous measures will be put forth to keep them from the city if they are found wanting.

"I am not ready to say what action will be taken with regard to the posters if they are brought here," stated Mrs. Jessie Atkinson, president of the Federation of W. C. T. U. "I have not seen a copy of them, but our organization will come out strongly against them and take measures to keep them from the city."

CHINESE WED; SEQUEL IS FOOTBALL ROMANCE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—The most beautiful girl in San Francisco's Chinatown for his wife was the reward Edson Ling Hue of this city received for a clever play in a football game of two and a half years ago.

Hue married Miss Bessie G. Wong of San Francisco last night at the residence of his parents in this city, surrounded by Oriental trappings amid rich gold and silver hangings.

Hue was a member of the Polytechnic football team that played the All-Japanese team at San Francisco nearly three years ago, and made a play that saved the day for the local boys. Miss Wong signified her pleasure with a rose flung at the feet of the local Chinese player. An introduction followed, and last night saw the culmination of the romance begun on the football field.

Miss Wong, garbed in a heavily embroidered Chinese gown, was married according to the Chinese custom. Then the civil ceremony of America was performed. Both bride and groom were born in this state. Both have received a college education.

CHAPERONES NAMED FOR GIRL FRESHIES

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 16.—In view of the fact that sorority women in general are not permitted to talk with freshmen girls during the first five weeks of college, a committee of ten upperclass women has been appointed to form a system of sponsorship to see that the new girls are adequately chaperoned during the first few days of the semester and to help them in arranging their courses.

Under each of these ten girls will be four others who will work directly with the freshmen and report to these ten how the freshmen are getting along. Sorority girls on this committee will not be permitted to do any rushing for their clubs while aiding the freshmen.

[illegible] composed of the Misses Hazel Green, Isabel Rowell, Ileen Bullis, Neoma Check, Ruth Price, Ella McDonald, Christine Madison, Marjorie Emmons and Marjorie Tisdale. Miss Rose Emery of Los Angeles was also appointed, but her marriage with Bruce Bliven, '09, has necessitated the appointment of some other.

WOMAN FAINTS WHEN MAN IS KILLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Charles Frederick Dahlin, a tanner 60 years of [illegible] an automobile belonging to John A. Hooper of Woodside ran into him as he was riding a bicycle at Five Points, a short distance south of Redwood City.

The automobile had been sent to the Redwood City depot to meet Mrs. Henry O. Beatty, Hooper's daughter, and daughter-in-law of Chief Justice Beatty, who, with her two children, was on her way to her Woodside residence from San Francisco.

Mrs. Beatty alighted from the machine as soon as it struck Dahlin, and, when she saw that he was dead, she fainted and was under medical care last night.

The machine was driven by Hooper's chauffeur, Michael Reynolds, who was arrested and released on bail. Reynolds said that Dahlin turned his head to look at an approaching train and swerved directly in front of the automobile.

Dahlin had a telegram in his pocket telling of a recent death of a brother in Sweden. For years he had worked at the Redwood City tannery and had made a comfortable sum which was invested in oil and other stock. He intended to go back to Sweden to live next March when bonds which he held would mature.

PROMOTER SUED FOR DIVORCE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—William Hill Hunt, secretary and promoter of the $500,000 Hanover Farms Company of which ex-Governor Edward G. Stokes of New Jersey and ex-Secretary of the Treasury Shaw are directors, and a banker with a varied career in the last ten years, was sued for divorce in the Supreme Court yesterday by Mrs. Marcia Mitchell Hunt.

Mrs. Hunt is the daughter of Dr. L. C. Mitchell of Minneapolis, one of the best known physicians of the Northwest. Through the filing of the suit it became known that Mrs. Hunt felt compelled to leave her husband because of his alleged unfaithfulness. She alleges acts of misconduct with a woman unknown to her in various places outside of New York.

Hunt came here in 1902 from Alabama, where he had been identified with a number of banking schemes, and opened an office as a private banker on Wall street. Soon afterward he organized the International Bank and Trust Company, which had headquarters in New York and branches on the Pacific Coast and in Mexico. There were about a dozen of the branches in Mexico, and at one time Congressman Fassett, William Astor Chanler and George E. Foster, former Canadian minister of finance, were directors. A weak spot developed in one of the Mexican branches, and the government closed it up.

YOUNG WOMEN MAKE DIZZY CLIMB UP MAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—To make good a dare, two young women who arrived from Honolulu on the steamship Siberia yesterday, climbed unaided to the crow's nest two days ago. They were Miss Ethel Gay, niece of Colonel Sam Parker of Honolulu, and Miss Mona Hind, daughter of R. Hind, one of the wealthiest men of Hawaii. Many women passengers make this climb to the dizzy height a hundred feet above the Siberia's deck, but on such occasions Captain Adrian Zeeder has always remained close at hand in case of an accident. Two days ago, when the skipper was not present, Miss Gay and Miss Hind, who had asserted that the climb was easy, without help clambered to the lookout's place.

ARE MARRIED MEN HAPPY?

THAT is the question which many a bachelor has asked himself. He has had the smooth story of many a man with a large family of daughters. He has listened to the groans of married men who have sons, and he has drawn his own conclusions. Of course, in each of the cases cited the man supposed that he was uniting his fate to a woman as near human perfection as could be found. Presumably he made allowance for trivial faults. He concluded there was a glamor over him, or else women did not develop their unlovable traits until after wedlock.

All the women whom he had known during his bachelorhood were gracious, sweet, and amiable. He saw only love-light in their eyes, as he approached, and he heard only words of welcome from their lips. He was given to judge them as he saw them. His one great trouble was in making a choice where all was so [illegible]

The man with the daughters would pat him affectionately on the shoulder and say, "My boy, you can't know what you are missing by being single. You don't know the peace and comfort of having a home of your own—one place where you can do as you please, and which is presided over by an angel, whose every thought is for you, whose heart is all your own and who considers it the greatest [illegible] can give to be able to make you happy. This is joy like none other joy to a man. He never really lives [illegible] and has another being dependent upon him for life's comforts. It puts spur to his ambition, makes toil a pleasure for him. There is no one like a wife to confide in, no one so glad for your success, no one who sympathizes so deeply with you over your failures. If a man loses every dollar which he has on earth he still has a wealth of heart treasure, which no one can take from him. Every year of married life strengthens the love between man and wife. It is better for you to marry late than not at all, my boy."

The man who has not found married life congenial tells him: "While some men find marriage the goal of human happiness, there is apt to be one now and then who finds it in a measure accords with those of the woman whom he weds. If she hates housekeeping and wants to board, there you are. On the other hand, he might get a spouse with nagging tongue, who would make life unbearable for the most patient of men. If he is of a frugal turn of mind and she is over-frivolous and fond of clothes he has to give up his last farthing for the sake of peace—and there you are. If a man could only have an accurate forecast of his future, if married or single, he could take the path which promised the most happiness for him."

The bachelor discusses the tale of woe of his unhappy friend with that of the married man who has daughters. He is told, with another pat on the shoulder, that there are men who make their own marital unhappiness. The average girl will make a good wife—aye, and a happy one too—if she is only treated right. She marries him for love, companionship, and happiness. If she finds that she has not the love which she counted on, and instead of his companionship she finds that he never turns his face toward home until "the last dog's hung," as the old saying goes, hasn't she a right to feel desolate? Aye, and isn't she justified in inquiring where he has passed the time which rightfully belongs to her? If he takes no pains to make her life a contented one, how can she be happy? It is safe to predict that there is not one wife in a thousand who would not make a happy future for him if he allowed her but half a chance. It is every man's duty to make a home for some good woman. One need not resort to argument to show a man that he is far more contented and happier as a married man than single.

A TRAGIC CONDITION.

"Dear Miss Libbey. About ten years ago while I was still at school, there came into my life for a brief time a girl. She was the niece of a neighbor. Up to this time I was a bad boy, always getting into trouble. But when I saw her a sudden change came over me. I no longer cared to go with the gang. Play had very little attraction for me. I began to realize that enjoyment did not consist wholly of playing, but of work. So I began to work, to make myself worthy of her. I used to sit for hours at a time in the window, unseen by her, and watch her play with her dolls. I regarded her as something above me, as a goddess, a saint. She and everything she did was sacred. It was because of this that I don't think I exchanged words more than a score of times in the time she was there. But she always spoke to me so kindly, so very kindly, that I was afraid. Then the day came when she went away. I was sitting in the window, and I saw her as she stepped into the cab. I did not dare to say goodby. I guess I was a bit of a coward. But that makes no difference now. For a month after that I guess I was in a trance. My studies were neglected, my work was never done. I never went out to play. I could think of nothing but her. And then necessity compelled me to leave school and fight my own way in the world. Ten years have passed, and during that time I have never seen or heard from her. But not a day has passed that I haven't seen her in my mind's eye. Not a day has passed that I haven't longed for her, striving all the while to tear from the grasp of this old world enough substance to make her a comfortable home. And finally, after many failures, I succeeded.

"The joy of the moment when I first realized that I could at last go to her and show her what I have accomplished for love of her cannot be expressed in words. I was in paradise. The world never seemed to be so beautiful before. I always kept track of her whereabouts, and a week later I intended to sail for South America (for that is where she lives now), when, glancing through the newspaper from her town, I saw something that made my heart sink within me—a public announcement of the engagement of 'Mable S. to Arthur K., the wedding to take place in November.'

"If a person had told me ten minutes before that it was possible for a man so full of life and happiness as I was to become so utterly crushed in so short a time I would have thought him insane. In a second it seemed as though the sun had been eclipsed. A pall of darkness seemed to force its way into my very soul. All the charms of life seemed to fade away. Wealth, fame, and fortune were nothing to me now. Nothing! In this wide world could make me happy.

Needless to say, I did not sleep that night, and in the week that followed I lost 20 pounds. Then I began to collect my thoughts to realize what a false position [illegible] that she would wait for me? How was she to know that I loved her? For all she knew, my dust might have been lying in a moldy box years ago. How was she to know that I was working night and day to build a home for her? These are the thoughts that are raking my brain night and day. At last, in my despair, I write to you for advice. Should I go to her and tell her I love her and try to win her away from that man, or should I remain silent and regard her memory as the beautiful dreams of yesterday? J. S."

It would be extremely foolish of you to attempt to make any declaration of your love for the girl now. You probably would only cause her much embarrassment and unhappiness. And if the girl has been such a wonderful influence for good in your life it would be most unkind and ungrateful of you now to cause her unhappiness. It is much better that you remain silent. You should try to put her right out of your life and get interested in some other girl. No doubt there are just as fine girls among your acquaintances [illegible] girl. I do think you have idealized this girl to an unusual extent. Perhaps if you were to meet her now, after ten years' separation, you would be painfully disappointed in her. Now that you have made a success of your life, don't spoil it by brooding over the loss of a girl of whom you actually know very little.

Keep Youthful by Exercise

AS exercise invigorates youth, so it sustains one when the descent of the shady side of life begins; but while the young may take an almost unlimited amount of eexercise, the middle aged must be moderate, since to attempt to keep up the amount they indulged in during their earlier years would simply be intrenching upon their capital of vitality, and thus depleting instead of building up the system. At this stage of life vigor is oftener sustained than increased, for as the years roll on lighter food and less exercise and sleep are required.

A word to the wise should be sufficient. It is this: Take as [illegible] calls for, and refrain when it rebels. Do not attempt the feats of your more youthful days, but follow them as far as is reasonable. If you are in doubt, or, worse still, if you think your particular human machinery never will break down, no matter what strain you put upon it, seek the counsel of some wise and honest physician, who will tell you all the risks you incur in overtaxing the weakening system.

Remember: If you follow the advice physicians generally give, particularly what refers to your individual case, growing old will be robbed of half its terrors, since you will resist successfully its advances, instead of courting them by straining the system in the endeavor to show you are just as young as ever.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

MRS. JAMES R.—It is seldom that two people will lose flesh under the same regimen or diet. Exercise will reduce one person and show no great effect on the other, unless it is combined with forced perspiration. Thousands of women go daily to the Turkish bath to reduce their weight by profuse perspiration. The Turkish bath habit has been much overdone, and there is always a question of its being debilitating. However, for ordinary healthy women once a week is not too often to take a Turkish bath, providing one does not stay in the steam and hot room too long. The Turkish baths may have a great effect on you in reducing. They do reduce to some extent, but reduce some people more than others.

The interval between shampoos should vary with the character of the hair. If the hair is naturally oily, not more than a few days should intervene, but if the hair is dry it may be left for a period of six weeks or even two months. Too frequent shampoos make the hair fairly reek with oil. The head should then be wet with warm water to soften the scalp and before applying the mixture for shampoo and be gently rubbed with the hands and finger tips. Work the lather thoroughly through the hair and over the scalp before rinsing them. Four or five rinsings are necessary to get the hair free from the shampoo, and if the hair is heavy rinse it as many times as seven or eight, or until the water is as clear as it was before the hair was rinsed in it. I am sending you the formula for an excellent shampoo for oily hair. It promotes a healthy action of the glands, dissolves secretions of the pores, and is thorough in its cleansing properties.

C. H.—If your corsets are rust-proof in every respect, clasps and garters as well as boning, and if the material is washable you may put them right in the tub like any other garment. I believe that in time women will get into the way of doing this more. At present they seem still to be accustomed to the idea of wearing their corsets until they are soiled, then discarding them, which is a poor way. If you do not wish to tub your corsets you may clean them with bread crumbs. A third method is to lay them on a board and clean with warm water and a pure soap. A fourth way is to have them dry cleaned.

MARY C.: If your hair is not inclined to be wavy I am afraid you cannot make it so naturally. However, you can overcome the stringy appearance of your hair by taking good care of it. From the description of your hair I should say that it is not getting the nourishment it should. Is your scalp perfectly loose and flexible? If it isn't, it should be, for when your scalp has become tight and adherent to the underlying bones, the skull, the hair will lose its luster, and become lifeless and "stringy." After taking your hair down at night, brush it good with a bristle brush, not too stiff, but one with bristles long enough so that it can reach your scalp. Brush each side of your hair at least one hundred strokes each. Don't brush your hair so that it will lie flat against your scalp, but brush it outward, lifting the hair from the scalp, so that it will become fluffy and light. Massage your scalp for about fifteen minutes with the tips of the fingers. This will loosen the scalp and give the hair more nourishment. When massaging the scalp use a good hair tonic with it. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall be glad to send you a formula for an excellent hair tonic with complete instructions for scalp massage.

M. H.—When the superfluous hair is as long and heavy as you describe there is nothing that will remove it as effectively as the electric needle. I would advise you to have it taken off with electrolysis. This is safe, and once removed it will not return.

JACK LONDON INVITED ON CRUISE OF WORLD

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 16.—Commodore Frank Garbutt of Los Angeles, millionaire sportsman, now cruising the Santa Barbara Channel Islands in his yacht, is preparing to make a two-years' cruise of the world, it is reported today, taking with him a party of friends, including Jack London, the novelist. It is said that for the trip Garbutt will build a $100,000 yacht either at San Pedro or San Francisco, the craft to be finished in a year.

Garbutt is a personal friend of Jack London.

MAN DIES AFER 200 SURGICAL OPERATIONS

BALTIMORE, Aug. 16. — After undergoing more than 200 operations during two years for the removal of a growth in the throat that interfered with his breathing, George McDowell, 31 years old, formerly of Spartanburg, S. C., died at a hospital here while the surgeons were making a last attempt to save his life.

For the last 18 months McDowell breathed through a silver tube inserted in his throat. He had been under so many operations that he became immune to the effects of cocaine and the doctors were forced to use other means.

To deaden the pain freezing was resorted to while they worked on the growth which had baffled every physician called into the case. The doctors knew that it was a muscular growth, but could not tell what kind. It contracted the man's windpipe and at times nearly closed it.

5000 ARE SLAIN IN GREAT BATTLE AT CANTON

ALLEGED SPY TELLS OF WORK

Was Paid to Write for Newspaper, He Declares.

Aim Not to Confirm Mulhall's Statement, Says McMichael.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—I. H. McMichael, formerly chief page of the House, described by Martin M. Mulhall in his lobby exposure as the "chief spy" on Congressmen for the National Association of Manufacturers, testified before the House lobby committee that he was now being paid a weekly salary of $75 by the New York World, which printed the original Mulhall charges. McMichael explained he was being paid under an agreement to write a story about "Twenty Years a House Employe" after the lobby investigation was over. Attorney J. Easby, counsel for J. T. McDermott, told the committee that he would bring Allan I. Irvine, a government supply contractor of this city, to testify that McMichael had informed Irvine he would receive a weekly salary until he had corroborated Mulhall's testimony.

"I have a contract to begin after this hearing, but I don't think you have any right to inquire into my private business," retorted McMichael when pressed for details.

WANTS FULLER ANSWER.

The committe finally required a fuller answer.

"I am under verbal agreement—not one in writing," began McMichael. "I am out of a job and must make a living. So I agreed to write a story of 20 years a House employe, but it was expressly understood I was not to write it until after this investigation."

"And you receive $75 a week?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did not you tell Irvine you were to receive the salary for corroborating Mulhall?"

"No, sir, I did not."

"Did not you tell Irvine that if McDermott would pay you $325 he owed you that you would not say a word to hurt him?" demanded Smith. "Did you intend to suppress all you have told if McDermott paid you the $325."

DENIES SUPPRESSION.

"Absolutely not,' said McMichael. "I intended to do just what I am doing, tell the unvarnished truth."

STUBBORN SUIT FINALLY DECIDED

Case Between Bifocat and Kryptock Company Decided Against Former.

One o fthe hardest fought legal battles before the United States courts in recent history was decided on July 15, 1913, in favor of the Kryptok Company of Boston, plaintiffs against the Stead Bifocal Company of Kansas City, for infringement on the well-known Kryptok—a two-vision eyeglass.

No case before this final court was more stubbornly fought. Every inch of the way, so to speak, was contested—every technicalit yof judicial procedure was resorted to by leading lawyers of the country, and with the broad decision the well defined claims of the plaintifffs were sustained.

With the decision which gives the Kryptok Company the protection sought, will laso be of great significance to many opticians throughout this country, in that it prevents for all time the sale of any eyeglass which likewise may be proven an infringement.

The suit had been dragging in the courts for seven years. The regular Cryptok lense, except from extremely close observation, was a very ordinary-looking eyeglass, and for this reason it was very easy for the unscrupulous to make a substitution which would to a great extent resemble a genuine Kryptok, yet not possess the remarkably upiform vision tnis lense afforded

Child's Body Swept By Tide Into Sewer

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Four-year-old Leo Petroleciez fell from a row boat into Fresh Pond Creek, near Jamaica Bay, late yesterday and a few minutes later the incoming tide swept him up into a big sewer, far under the city, where he was lost.

A throng of people watched until late last night the spectacular effort [illegible] body. Fish nets were placed at the outlet of the sewer and a battery of searchlights was played upon the scene, but to no avail. The sewer stretches across the Meadows a mile and a half and is almost level so that the tide waters really extend up the entire distance. If the receding tide does not carry the body out, men will enter the sewer to search for it.

Prize Seekers Swat Flies by the Pint

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 16.—Four million dead house flies were bought at the rate of five cents a pint today by the Harrisburg Civic Club, this being the close of the swatting prize contest for this season. The number is only a fraction of those killed as a result of the civic clubs campaign.

Ella Marie Kreidler won first prize of $2 for the largest score, turning in 74½ pints, for which she got $3.75 besides her prize. Second prize of $1 was won by David Peters with 21 pints.

More than 218 pints of flies were turned in.

Millionaire's Death Puzzles Detectives

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 16.—Nine million dollars in money is involved in the death of John McAlpin, Duluth millionaire lumberman whose body was found in the basement of his home yesterday with a bullet in the head.

Chief of Police Troyer leans strongly to the theory of murder, as does a private detective, while the family declares that McAlpin was accidentally shot when he fell over a pipe with an automatic pistol in hand, and if not, that a burglar did the killing.

Slashes Wife's Face To Destroy Beauty

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Francis Dattila Raymond, described as the most beautiful girl in the Italian district here, was disfigured by a razor in the hands of her husband, Michael Raymond, a musician, last night

Raymond, who cut his wife about the face and arms, declared that her beauty had been the cause of constant trouble between them, and before attacking her, declared that was the reason for his act. Raymond is being sought by the police.

Forest Fires Raging Near Seward, Alaska

SEWARD, Alaska, Aug. 16.—Forest fires are raging in the vicinity of Kenai Lake, twenty-five miles from Seward. A high wind is blowing and the fire is beyond control. An Alaska Northern railway motor car was caught Thursday night between fallen logs but the crew saved the car after a hard fight with the flames. Three miles of the Alaska Northern's track were damaged by the fire, which is said to have started from a camp fire.

Sacramento River At Lower Gauge

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—With the official gauge registering a depth of three feet seven inches, there is less water flowing in the Sacramento river here than at any time in the last 64 years.

The lowest stage ever recorded was zero in 1856. In 1862 the records show 2.4 feet.

Lack of rainfall and the vast amount of water now being taken from the channel for irrigation purposes are held responsible for the scant supply.

Hales Sentenced to Five Years in Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—William Hales, who is alleged to have killed Gertrude McDonald in a downtown lodging-house six months ago, was sentenced to five years in San Quentin today by Superior Judge Dunne The murder accusation against the defendant has been reduced to manslaughter.

SUIT OVER SPITE FENCE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—A spite fence 40 feet high in the fashionable Vallejo street district is the cause of a suit for damages filed with the Superior Court today by Mrs. Miriam Michelson, author of "In the Bishop's Carriage," against Claus Schilling, wealthy president of C. Schilling & Co., wholesale wine dealers and owners of several large wineries.

Mrs. Michelson asks the court to give her judgment against Schilling for $2500 as damage already sustained and to enjoin him from maintaining the structure.

UNIONS AS ONE IN DEALINGS WITH S. P.

Conductors, Engineers, Firemen and Trainmen Present United Front.

Company Willing to Receive Contentions on Equal Basis.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—For the first time in 40 years the Order of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen, are presenting a united front in their negotiations with the Southern Pacific Company.

Negotiations between the men and the company over the operation of its electrized systems in California and Oregon are moving slowly. Each day there is a conference between representatives of the company and of the men, and with W. H. Hanger, the mediator, representing the government, whose services were invoked under the Newlands Act.

Thus far, it was said today, the most important result arrived at was the solidification of the four great unions and willingness of the company to agree that the contentions shall be received equally and alike.

TWENTY-YEAR OLD WINE WILL FLOW

Alameda County Manufacturers Visit to Neighbors Will Be Celebrated.

An old keg of wine, one of the first made at the plant, and over twenty years old, will be opened when, next Wednesday, the Alameda county manufacturers will visit Richmond and Winehaven. When the winery was founded this keg was set aside, the factory manager stating that it might be used at some important occasion.

"Let's open it when the Alameda county commercial interests visit us," he suggested. This was twenty years ago. Wednesday the visit will be made and the old keg will see the light of day.

The visit of the Alameda county manufacturers to Contra Costa will be one of the biggest affairs in years. Elaborate preparations are being made in Richmond. Business will be suspended for the afternoon. Headed by Paul Edwards, secretary of the Industrial Commission the Richmond boosters, with a brass band, will meet the manufacturers' delegation. Mayor Ludewig will welcome the visitors in a short address, and L. H. Lewars, as master of ceremonies will open the program. The speakers will be Joseph E. Vaine, W. B. Gibson, A. H. Irving, Frank W. Bilger, John F. Mullins, Harry S. Anderson and Wilber Walker.

WILL TOUR FACTORIES.

A visit to the Standard Oil plant and to Winehaven will follow and a tour will be made of Richmond's factories.

Many exhibitors have already signed for the Alameda county space in the coming state fair according to Secretary Frederic Boehle Jr., of the Manufacturers' committee. Colonel Theodore Gier, who is director of the state agricultural society, has secured for this county 6000 feet of the best space available. The principal industries of the county will be represented with elaborate exhibits.

Secretary Boegle announced the advent of a new factory today. This is the Electro Alkaline Company, which is to engage in the manufacture of hydrogen and oxygen gas for cleaning purposes. Ed Walker is president of the organization and Romaine Meyers chief engineer. The plant will employ many men and be an important asset to the city, according to Boegle.

U. S. NOTE NOW IN HANDS OF MEXICO

Formally Set Forth Views Being Considered by Huerta and Cabinet.

Copies Transmitted to Diplomatic Representatives of Foreign Government.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Administration officials here expect the next move in the Mexican situation to come from the Huerta government. Official advices that the views of the United States, as set forth in a formal note, had been delivered to the Mexican government and were under consideration by Provisional President Huerta and his cabinet, were received here today, with the additional information that the views of the United States had been transmitted at the same time to diplomatic representatives of foreign governments in Mexico City, according to President Wilson's original plan.

Secretary Bryan preserved silence today, even declining to say whether the note had been presented. President Wilson, after going over the situation, left for the golf links.

The Mexican embassy here had no advices whatever of Mr. Lind's note, it had not been advised of its contents by the State Department here and embassy officials expected to receive it, if at all, from Minister Gamboa in Mexico City.

PUBLICATION BEING WITHHELD.

Publication of this government's views as set out in the note is being withheld for the present at the request of the Huerta government, that it be first permitted to go over the communication. Secretary Bryan's plan is to publish the contents simultaneously in Washington and Mexico City later and probably with the acquiescence of Huerta. The Senate foreign relations committee again today discussed phases of the Mexican situation and the scope of the report by the special investigating committee of which Senator Smith of Michigan was chairman.

The committee edirected that this report, and an individual report by Senator Fall, should be laid before the entire foreign relations committee, probably next week, for decision. None of the pending resolutions on Mexican affairs was acted on Since then no word has been received from him. Mrs Larkin fears he has been taken prisoner by Mexican rebels.

Famous Belle Wins Heart of Gerard Leigh, a British Soldier

CHICAGO, Aug 16.—The postman brought grief and heartaches to the youthful and aristocratic members of the Ellwood Club yesterday—grief that permeated the [illegible] atmosphere and made bitters of highballs

Letters from London confirming the whispered rumors that Miss Helen Goudy, beauty and toast of two continents, was to wed Gerard Leigh of the First Life Guards, did the damage. The news smote several swains where they lived—in the hearts, not stomachs

For five years Helen Goudy's beauty had been the dominating note in the lives of the Ellwood Club's richest members. She had been courted and favored, had shook her head at the offer of fortunes and smiled away disappointed husbands-that-would-have-been.

Less than a month ago some one discovered in the London Bystander gossip that linked Miss Goudy's name with the British soldier's. The fair one was in London at the time, but the Ellwood Club refused to believe her false.

Yesterday came the letters that told the news. Today there arrived at the club several cases of Scotch. Sorrow that will not be downed must be drowned.

Miss Goudy is the daughter of the late William Goudy of Chicago and London. Her fiance is the son of the late Captain G. Leigh. His mother is the present Mrs. Reginald Halsey.

MRS. PANKHURST ON TRIP TO FRANCE

Suffragette Leaves England, But Is Not Arrested.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Miss Emmaline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, left England for France last night, traveling across the channel by way of Southampton and Havre. She has been out on "license" under the "cat and mouse act" for some time and it was reported that the police at channel ports recently received orders not to arrest her if she left England.

Mrs. Pankhurst was sentenced to a term of three years' penal servitude on a charge of conspiracy at the London sessions on April 3 this year. In a speech in the court she declared she would fight to the end and since her condemnation she has compelled the authorities to release her several times owing to the fear that she would die from the effects of her "hunger and thirst strike."

Miss Christabel Pankhurst, daughter of Mrs. Pankhurst, and chief organizer of the militant suffrage organization, has been living in Paris for some months. She directs from there the campaign of militant women in England.

Mrs. Pankhurst has gone away for what her friends call a "rest cure," which they say will probably be extended to the United States.

Miss Annie Kenney, another militant, preceded Mrs. Pankhurst to the continent, and it is expected hat Miss Sylvia Pankhurst will follow as soon as she has sufficiently recovered from her latest "hunger and thirst" strike.

NURSE FOUND, BUT RESENTS SOLICITUDE

Located at Friend's Home After Arousing Much Anxiety.

ELMHURST, Aug. 16.—"Why I am not a child now, why can't they leave me alone," said pretty Irene Wright, the San Francisco nurse who left for the home of her father William Wright, of 711 Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco, ten days ago and was located today at the home of her friend, Miss Anna Lopez, 1660 Seventy-fourth avenue, Elmhurst.

Miss Wright's disappearance caused her father and friends great anxiety and it was thought that she had met with foul play. Private detectives and police officers were able to trace her to Miss Lopez's home. Miss Wright said, when asked this morning the reason of her leaving home without telling her father her intentions, "Can't I do what I please?" Here she stamped her foot. "I merely left home to work for Mrs. J. R. McNaughton, a sister of Miss Lopez. I am better working away from home anyway. There is nothing at all out of place in my going away."

Asked if she had any intention of returning Miss Wright said she did not know and wished people would leave her alone.

Miss Wright is a popular young nurse who graduated at Providence Hospital. Nothing was seen of her since her disappearance ten days ago, when she left the residence of a friend, [illegible] Oakland, saying she was going to spend several days with her father in San Francisco.

Miss Wright expressed surprise when the newspaper account of her disappearance and laughed at the suggestion of foul play.

Have a Heart, McCredie!

That Makes Six in a Row, and We're Still Going; We Can't Go Down Any Further, Some Satisfaction

Look, Who's Ahead of Us!

Ex-Oak Moundman Suffers Relapse and Is in Perilous Condition

Billy Fitz Says, Says he:

BUMP! We've landed at the bottom, in the position which rightfully should belong to our amphibian friends from across the bay. It was not a gentle crash with which we landed, either. It was one, which resounded with a thump, that incidentally also affected our feelings. Gee whiz, McCredie, ain't you ever going to be satisfied? What did we ever do to you that you should treat our youths so rudely? Henceforth if you're going to beat us, do it right at the start; but please, pretty please, don't prolong the agony. Anyway, although we lost, we are now hep to the reason why the Oaks are not winning games. Yesterday Pruitt held the Ducks to seven hits and two runs. In the previous games we hit em all over, but couldn't score enough to win. Now, when our pitcher did show something the team went hitless behind him. The question now confronts the fans: Will the Oaks ever win? We don't know. It certainly don't look that way. There is a winning streak due us; in fact, said streak is many, many hours over due, and it may have been wrecked. In that case, pennant, we keese you good-bye.

Without question there was lots of action on Cal Ewing's lot when the Seals and Tigers got together in the fourth game of the present series. It was San Francisco's victory, but the article of ball put up by Hap Hogan's men would have made them easy picking for any bunch of sandlotters. Seventeen men were used by Hogan while 13 acted on the San Francisco roster. Batting averages received substantial boosts, which was about the only interesting feature of the game. The Tigers threatened to stage a rally in the eighth and after hitting safely seven times for four runs Lefty Leverenz was sent to the rescue of Doc Thomas with a legacy of three inhabited bags. McLoan was not equal to the occasion and fanned, killing hopes for a Venice victory.

Orval Overall and Del Howard yesterday afternoon came to terms, and the ex-Cub put his signature to a San Francisco contract.

While we're in the mood we might as well rid ourselves of our thoughts of the street car accommodations after leaving the Seal parklet. The service supplied fans on the San Francisco side is certainly anything but adequate, and when you do land aboard a car, a sardine has nothing on it for close quarters. It is mighty uncomfortable for the women who attend the games to rush pell mell after a street car, and an effort should be made to remedy the defect.

A perfectly good window pane was busted by Schaller in the fourth. The ball went over the r. f. f. and through a closed window. Hitting the window was a surprise, but a four play swat by Schaller, almost had fatal effects.

Who said the Seals weren't lucky? About six of their runs were made on the bushiest of bushy errors.

The pitcher who drops the ball while in the act of pitching will no longer be charged with a balk according to an edict handed down by President Ban Johnson of the American league. According to Johnson's ruling, the ball will still be in play and the moundsman, if he cares to, can throw to catch a runner off a bag. A recent ruling by President Lynch of the National league ordered that a ball dropped by a heaver in the act of pitching was a balk.

Del Howard will probably work Orval Overall this afternoon. Lefty Leifield, the other big leaguer on the Seal roster will do the mound duty Sunday afternoon, with Doc Thomas working here in [illegible].

It is said that Jimmy Johnston will be released to the White Sox at the conclusion of the present season. Jimmy's sensational base stealing escapades have reached the ears of the eastern magnates and they are now hot on his trail.

If nothing else was accomplished the stolen base records of our heroes were considerably enhanced. Leard pilfered two, Cook took a similar number, while Coy and Kaylor each grabbed one. And we got one run. O, piffle!

There is some satisfaction to know that we play the Seals next week. Our men can't play any worse, and they may be able to slip up a little better article of baseball. If it wasn't that Hogan's hands are in the midst of a bone storm, we wouldn't be in the cellar.

Walter Johnson of the Washington Americans made it an even dozen in a row when he slipped [illegible] under the Detroit hopes. Walter was touched freely but his teammates found the Detroit twirlers easy meat and got 16 safe swats.

As was expected, the Giants have entered the .700 division and it will take a mighty good team to oust them out of the position. Fromme pitched the game which brought the New Yorkers into that class.

Philadelphia hooked another and climbed closer to the top.

One of Ashley Pope's twisters struck Catcher [illegible] of the [illegible] State league team in the back of the ear yesterday splitting his ear and knocking him unconscious. It was ascertained at the hospital to which he was removed that he was suffering from concussion of the brain, in a minor stage.

Rube Gardner who is taking Ness' place at first, the latter remaining at his home in this city because of the illness of the new addition to the Ness family, continues to hit consistently, getting another bingle.

[illegible] have a perfect right to set up the wail of "the breaks are against us" [illegible] of having a man on third nearly every inning, and then score but one [illegible]. As General Sherman remarked "this is awful."

Comiskey Denies He Will Take Harl

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Harl Maggert, star centerfielder of the Los Angeles club and leading batsman of the Pacific Coast League will not be called to Chicago this season, as reported when it became known the management of the Chicago Americans had exercised an option on the player. President Henry Berry announced today that Maggert would finish the season with the Angels, the Los Angeles magnate having received assurances from President Charles Comiskey of the White Sox to that effect.

In spite of Comiskey's action, Maggert will be subjected to draft by any of the major league clubs and the fact that he will not be required to report at once to Comiskey makes it possible that he will become the property of some other major league club in 1914.

Almost Nabbed Off First, but Not Quite

LOCAL CLUBS AFTER THE BRONZE CUP; SO ARE OTHERS

Exciting Competition Between Various Organizations Promises to Develope in Merritt Race.

THERE will be an unusually large entry list from interior clubs in THE TRIBUNE'S Modified Marathon on Admission Day, September 9th, if present indications are to be relied upon. Already numerous entries have been received and entry records are expected to be shattered. The affair should develop a number of "dark horses" and will probably bring some into line for longer distances. THE TRIBUNE is not merely promoting the affair for the purpose of boosting one victor, but the idea is to revive long-distance running on this side of the bay.

The announcement that a handsome bronze trophy would be awarded to the first five-man team finishing is proving a great alurement. Local clubs want to hold the cup in this city, while it would be a great delight to several of the outside organizations to walk off with it. Several of the contestants have been timid about inquiring as to details of the race. Don't be timid. Just ask any or as many questions as you care to and they will be gladly answered. Any training suggestions wished will also be supplied.

COBB-JACKSON RACE FOR SLUG HONORS IS TIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. — Joe Jackson led Ty Cobb as the race for American league batting honors entered the home stretch this week. Cobb, however, is straining every nerve to catch his rival and their figures— 383 for Jackson and .365 for the Detroit star — show how close the race is.

The next eight batters are:

Speaker, Boston, .372; D. Murphy, Philadelphia, .354; Henricksen, Boston, .371; LaJoie, Cleveland, .341; E. Collins, Philadelphia, .342; McInnes, Philadelphia, .332; Baker, Philadelphia, .334; Gandil, Washington, .325.

Earl Yingling, Brooklyn pitcher, stays on top among the national batters with a persistence that indicates his percentage of .414 for 24 games is hardly a fluke. Charlie McDonald, for 66 games is hitting .355, and is one of four Boston Nationals batting better than .300. Daubert, of Brooklyn, fulfilled predictions by climbing to third place during the week with an average of .352. The next eight leaders are:

Hyatt, Pittsburg, .350; R. Miller, Philadelphia, .358; Walsh, Philadelphia, .346; Cravath, Philadelphia, .338; Gibson, Pittsburg, .333; W. Collins, Boston, .333; D. Brown, Boston, .324; Hess, Boston, .320.

Walter Johnson pitched his way to the front among the American league slabmen this week, outpointing his teammate, Boehling.

The first five pitchers rank as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Johnson, Washington	26	5	.839
Boehling, Washington	11	3	.786
Bender, Philadelphia	17	6	.793
Wood, Boston	12	5	.706
Walsh, Chicago	7	3	.700

Not counting Konetchy of St. Louis and his "one won, no lost" record against the Chicago team, Mathewson and Demaree of New York and Humphries, Chicago are tied for the lead of the National league pitchers.

The first five pitchers follow:

Edward Ray, winner of the 1912 British open championship golf title, and Harry Vardon, runner-up in that event, and champion in 1911 and on four other occasions, have arrived from England. They will compete in the United States Golf Association's open championship at Brookline, Mass., September 17 and 18. Vardon won the American title in 1900 at Chicago.

William J. Clothier, former national champion, played into the final round yesterday with G. F. Touchard, the Middle States titleholder, in the lawn tennis singles on the turf courts of the Meadow Club.

Strachan and Griffin, the 17-year-old boys who hold the Pacific Coast doubles championship, furnished the thrills in the doubles. In the third round they defeated Alfred S. Dabney and C. M. Church, the latter the Princeton intercollegiate champion, 6—3, 6—7, 6—4.

Strachan and Griffin by their victory gained the semi-final round, where they will meet T. C. Bundy and William M. Johnston, the other California pair, tomorrow morning.

SALARIES OF YESTERYEAR WERE SMALLER THAN THOSE OF TODAY

Pay Checks of Old-time Men Wouldn't Buy Shoe Strings for Present Players.

Baseball managers of today are said to receive fabulous sums. John McGraw of New York is reported to have signed for five years at a salary of $30,000 a year. Frank Chance, Connie Mack and Fred Clarke are credited with having signed for more than $15,000.

What a difference from the year of 1888! Leaders in those days got what the major league clubs pay the recruits in the present days of baseball. That is hardly credible, but it is so.

"I'll bet Cap Anson received a big salary," said an enthusiast today. "I would like to wager he was given as much as most managers are getting today. He was a ball player and could surely demand it."

GAME WAS IN ITS INFANCY.

The fan who spoke thus spoke in ignorance of the salaries of 25 years ago, compared with those of today. He did not stop to think that it was impossible to pay such sums as the commanders are getting today because the game was in its infancy and if a few thousand persons saw a game the crowd was considered tremendous. All he thought about was the reputation Anson had of being a wonderful batter. Anson was a remarkable hitter, probably one of the best the game ever has had, yet he received a small amount for his efforts and services.

R. E. Smith is the possessor of a contract Anson signed with the old Chicago White Stockings in 1888.

Years ago the firm of A. G. Spalding & Bros. in Chicago cleaned out one of its departments and threw into the alley considerable refuse such as papers, books and valueless documents. Smith, who was employed there at the time, knew that the heap contained interesting baseball data and proceeded to rummage through the pile. In the dump were the aforementioned contracts, which he quickly fished out and stored in his collection of baseball information.

Perhaps it never has been told to the public what Anson received as manager of the Chicago White Stockings in the year 1888. The amount which is related here will settle a lot of arguments. When he attached his signature to a document in 1888 he did so for a sum of $2000. That was as a player. Seven hundred dollars was added for acting as captain and manager. That is surprising when it is considered that in 1887, the year before, Anson finished the year with a batting average of 421.

ANSON WAS PAID $2700.

Anson played baseball from 1876 until 1897, but during all those years he never received the money the managers of today are getting. The club could not afford it, because the sport was not as popular as it is now. Yet at the time Anson was thought to be getting a large amount. He was a wonderful player in his time. He was to the game what Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson, Heinie Zimmerman, Johnny Evers and many others are to the pastime at present.

In all the years Anson played his batting average never fell below the 300 mark. Even when he retired his figures were 302. In spite of his natural ability to bat he was given only $2700 in 1888, when he was in his prime, for managing and playing first base for the old White Stockings.

Salaries began to go up when the Brotherhood league was organized. The contracts for that organization were given when Charles A. Comiskey, N. Fred Pfeffer and Edward N. Williamson jumped the old National league. Anson was faithful to the old organization and refused to join the outlaws. Along with Anson's contract, Smith unearthed contracts of Comiskey, Pfeffer and Williamson, which they had signed for the Brotherhood league. The present owner of the White Sox then was regarded as the dean of fielding first basemen.

"Cy" Parkins Is in Critical Stage

"Cy" Parkins, ex-Oak pitcher, who is confined to the Providence Hospital from an attack of typhoid fever, is in a precarious condition. The former Oak pitcher has suffered a relapse and no visitors are allowed to see him. Tyler Christian, also confined at the same institution is on the road to recovery and expects to leave the hospital next week. He is very weak, however, and will not pitch another game this season.

'The Best Play I Ever Saw'

To the Sporting Editor: (1) A is on first and B bats a long fly, which is caught. A advances to second after the catch. Does B get credit for a sacrifice hit? (2) Does a player always get credit for a sacrifice if another is advanced on his fly out? (3) Can a player make an error without touching the ball, regardless of how easy or hard the chance is?—J. A. D.

(1) No. (2) No. The rule regarding sacrifice flies is plain. (3) Yes.

To the Sporting Editor: In the game at Brooklyn on July 8, when Brown finished in the ninth inning, who gets credit for the game?—SUBSCRIBER.

[illegible] Suggs would be given credit; the game was won in the first half of the ninth, in which Suggs went out for a pinch hitter and before Harter or Brown went into the game.

To the Sporting Editor: A is on second and B on first and C hits an infield fly. The umpire declares an infield hit. B is off his base between first and second. The second baseman catches the ball and delivers it to first before B gets back. Is B forced out without being touched?—A FAN.

B is not "forced out" but is out without being touched. A runner is "forced" only when compelled to advance.

To the Sporting Editor: With runners on third and first, the batter knocks a sacrifice fly to deep center. In making a play for the man going home where should the pitcher play?—C. G.

On a fly to "deep center" there should be no play to the plate unless the man on third is an ice wagon. The ball should be thrown to second, but if thrown home the pitcher should back up the plate.

CRICKET GETS MANY BAD KNOCKS

Cricket as a game has lately been getting some hard knocks. Lord Harris recently said that the chief change that he noticed in modern cricket is the greater timidity of captains and umpires in the matter of playing in a bad light. A good many lovers of the game besides Lord Harris are inclined to shake their heads over this tendency to refuse to play cricket except under conditions of ground and light which place it somewhat upon the same level as billiards.

This is a product of the commercialism which has been introduced into the game as a consequence of championship matches and county clubs which depend on the gate for their existence. Matches must be made to last their three days if possible and a good finish provided for the last day. All these precautions for securing equality of conditions are quite contrary to the true spirit of cricket, which consists in the taking of chances.

The time for the drawing of stumps is fixed according to the season of the year, and that is the whole extent to which conditions of light should be allowed an influence. Suspensions of play for bad light and the covering of the wicket against the effects of rain are not cricket.

Ex-Olympic Clubman Would Take Another Crack at Sailor Ed. Petroskey.

By THE TIMEKEEPER.

NOW comes Bob McAllister with the announcement that he is going to return to the roped arena. This was expected. Any time a boxer of McAllister's possibilities will leave the ring, especially with so much coin running around loose, there's another job for the bughouse. McAllister is conferring with Jim Coffroth, the sunny promoter of San Francisco, for a return match with Sailor Ed Petroskey on Admission Day, September 9th. Coffroth's idea is to have the winner, if there is one, matched with Jimmy Clabby.

If the Dundee-Wolgast match in the south is called off, Coffroth plans to hold a Murphy-Dundee match in San Francisco on Admission day.

Willie Ritchie left yesterday for the north. He will arrive Sunday, giving him two weeks to train for his bout with Welsh.

Remember Percy Cove? Percy who claims the featherweight championship of the Pacific coast fought a six round draw with Young Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia at Bellingham, Washington, last night. O'Brien wants to meet the winner of the Ritchie-Welsh match, but he's not the only one.

The Harry Trendall-Willie Robinson fray proved the most interesting of the four round house at Pavilion rink last night. Trendall got the decision after four rounds of fairly interesting milling. The other bouts resulted as follows:

Roy Moore took a decision from Francis Hennessy, Salinas Jack Robinson stopped Eddie Hart in the second round; Stanley Deane and Al Herman fought a slow draw; [illegible] Flynn and Kid Partelson went to a draw; Tommy Ryan was given a decision over Charley Givens; Soldier LeRoy was knocked out in the second round by Bob Smith, Walter McDermott won a decision from Jack Brattan and Tommy Stevens won from Billy Holmes.

Cliff Lester, the fighting teamster is out with a challenge to Tom Nickola. Lester would like to meet Nickola over the 10 round route.

According to Lester Nickola is dodging the issue. The two have met on two previous occasions, Lester taking a six round decision and Nickola a four round decision.

DOUBLES CHAMPIONS NOT TO RETURN

California racquet enthusiasts are discussing the chances of this State in future tennis tournaments with the east, the announcement made yesterday afternoon to the effect that Griffin and Strachan, the doubles team, Pacific coast champions, will not return to this State, causing considerable surprise and dismay in tennis circles. Strachan's family has moved to New York, while it is possible that Griffin may go into business in the eastern metropolis.

At the present time they hold nearly all the important doubles championships of California and on their present eastern tour they have met and defeated the top notchers of the eastern, southern and western states and are given by critics a fair chance of winning the [illegible] Loughlin and Bundy at Newport on August 20.

McLaughlin of San Francisco, the present title-holder and star of the American team, which lifted the Davis cup, will be one of the contenders. Under the recent rules of the association the champion is compelled to play through the tournament. McLoughlin will make his first appearance since the Davis cup matches Monday, when, with T. C. Bundy, also of California, he will defend the national double championship with John Strachan and Clarence Griffin, two more Pacific Coast players, and the winners in the preliminary tournament at Chicago last week.

This match will be the only doubles event played at Newport.

NEW MATCH PLANT TO BE STARTED AT CHICO

CHICO, Aug. 16.—The Diamond Match company is to have a rival for business in the northern and central California field.

Frank Clough, whose father was former general Pacific coast manager of the Diamond Match company, is now taking inventory and will purchase the Cooney Lumber company's holdings here. This is one of the biggest plants in the north and under the management of Clough is to be enlarged and much machinery added. It is the intention of the new owner to establish somewhere within easy access a huge sawmill plant.

The Diamond Match company, in addition to the regular business of lumber and its auxiliaries, manufactures the bulk of the matches used on the coast.

COLLEGE OF HOLY NAMES TO RE-OPEN

Improvements Made During Vacation to Facilitate Work of Coming Year.

The College of the Holy Names, on Lake Merritt, will open Monday. During the vacation many improvements have been made to facilitate work in the various departments and the coming year promises to be one of unusual prosperity.

The location of this institution, besides being one of Oakland's ideal beauty spots at the north end of Lake Merritt, affords easy access to all the routes of travel, being but a few minutes' walk from the Key Route and Southern Pacific lines, and for this reason of great advantage to parents and guardians living around the bay cities.

Besides the college course, the high school department, which accredited [illegible] classical, literary and commercial and scientific courses. The grammar and primary departments are admirably equiped to do excellent grounding in fundamentals and the institution offers also exceptional advantages in all the useful and beneficial arts.

Exhibits of work in ceramic arts, oils and water color painting, as well as the musical and literary programs which enliven the year's work, are among the means used to stimulate the interest of the students and procure opportunities for the patrons of the school to judge of progress in these lines.

Parents who are contemplating sending their daughters to a select day or boarding school, where thorough training is given as well as the ornamental touches, would do well to visit this Oakland school before seeking outside of Oakland for a suitable educational establishment.

SHOEMAKER MAY BE GIRL'S SLAYER

Hair Clinched in Hand of Unidentified Victim to Be Compared.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Mariano Ferone, 50 years old, a shoemaker, is under arrest in a local hospital until the police can investigate circumstances which they believe may connect him with the mysterious murder of an unidentified woman in the Spuyten Duyvil district last Sunday. Ferone was picked up Thursday night from a log floating in the Hudson river, and he claimed to have fallen into the water while fishing.

His clothing, the police say, was bloodstained. A woman's handkerchief was in his pocket. Ferone said he found it in the Spuyten Duyvil where he had lived for the last five weeks.

Near the dead woman's body a shoe last was discovered and detectives are seeking evidence that this may have belonged to the shoemaker.

Hairs from the rough beard and head of Ferone were secured by the police and will be compared with those found clinched in the dead woman's hand.

CORPORATION TAX BREAKS RECORDS

Franchise Collections in California Aggregate $4,619,000 for 1913.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—That every incorporate interest in California and business generally is on a better financial footing than ever before in the state's history was the contention yesterday of the State Treasurer Roberts when he pointed out that franchise tax collections for the day aggregated $2,474,620, bringing the total collected to date for the 1913 fiscal year to $4,619,000.

"The first installment of the corporation franchise, which becomes delinquent Monday, I think, from present indications, will be overpaid $500,000. Scores of corporations which, under the law, are obliged to pay but one installment at this time, have already paid both installments," said Roberts.

Next Tuesday morning California will have in cash on hand approximately $18,000,000, a sum never equaled before in the history of the state.

RAILROAD WILL DRAW FROM RICH DELTA LAND

STOCKTON, Aug 15.—That the Western Pacific Railroad Company is making preparations to build a feeder tapping the fertile delta lands to the west of Stockton is the statement of those who claim to have inside information. The exact route to be selected is not known, but it is said that the road will cross Roberts and Victoria islands, crossing the proposed new island highway and connecting with the new Oakland, Antioch and Eastern railroad.

This rumor is given additional credence owing to the fact that President B. F. Bush of the Western Pacific inspected the Antioch line on the occasion of his recent visit here, and then came to this city by automobile, journeying aross the island district and becoming personally acquainted with the wonderful productivity of that district.

At present the Santa Fe railroad enjoys a practical railroad monopoly in the delta lands. The little town of Holt is the heaviest shipping point on the Santa Fe between Fresno and Richmond outside of Stockton. It was announced some time ago that the Western Pacific would build a feeder down the San Joaquin valley as far as Bakersfield. The diverging point for this line will be somewhere near Stockton.

WATSONVILLE, Aug. 16.—Truckee won over Napa yesterday the 1914 Great Sun session of the Improved Order of Red Men and Degree of Pocohontas in one of the most spirited contests ever held over the location of a hunting ground. ADVANCE HALTED BY LATE REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Prospects of cooler weather tomorrow with showers brought about a halt today in the advance of corn. Nevertheless the market went a little above previous high price records for the season. The new upturn was due to the fact that there had as yet been no general relief from drought or heat and that country holders gave no sign of letting go of reserves. The opening was unchanged to ⅛@⅜c higher. December, which started at 69¼c to 69¾c, unchanged to ⅛@⅜c up, reacted to 69c.

Subsequent price changes were small. The close was steady ¼@⅜@⅝c net lower for December at 69⅛c.

Storm damage in Canada and bullish crop reports from France helped make wheat firm. December opened ⅛@⅜c to ⅛@⅜c higher at 90⅝c to 91⅛c, but fell back to 90⅝c.

Week-end covering led to a slight rally. The close was steady, with December ⅜c net higher at 90⅞@91c.

[illegible] December, which at the outset was 46c to 46⅛c, an advance of ⅛@¼c to ⅛@⅜, dropped to 45⅝c.

Concentrated buying credited to packers or foreigners lifted provisions. First sales were 5c off to 35c up, with January options as follows: Pork, $19.92½; lard, $10.60@11.62½, and ribs, $9.95.

Close: Wheat—September, 87⅝@87½c; December, 90⅞@91c; May, 95⅜c.

Corn—September, 74⅝@74⅝c; December, 69⅛c; May, 70¼c.

Oats—September, 42¼c; December, 45⅜c; May, 48⅜@48½c.

[illegible]

Ribs—September, $11.10; October, $11.02½; January, $10.12½.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Cash corn—No. 2, 77⅞@78c; No. 2 white, 77c; No. 2 yellow, 76½@78c; No. 3, 75⅞@76c; No. 3 white, 76½@76⅞c; No. 3 yellow, 76½c.

"When a Woman Loves" (Cines). Drama. Two-reel special. A three-part romance, pictured in some indefinite kingdom in modern times and on the brink of popular revolution. In the opening scene, which is a reception in the royal palace and in which is shown the stately entrance of the queen, we find that the story's leading character, a duchess and one of the queen's attendants, is in league with the conspirators. We soon find her falling in love with a fervent youth, who is arrested for preaching "the cause"; the duchess is able to get him out of prison. There is another woman in the case, and jealousy, revenge and remorse carry it to the end. The revenge she plans forces her suicide, and results in Flamma winning the lady of his choice.

It is expected that the party will reach San Jose at 8 o'clock, there to be received by the Garden City clubmen and the delegates already on hand. There will be 3000 in attendance from all parts of California, this being the largest motorcycle convention ever held in the state.

CADILLAC COVERS 74,000 MILES.

Seventy-four thousand miles in two years and ten days is the astonishing record made by the Cadillac five-passenger touring car which has been operated by the police department of Houston, Tex., for the regular work of hurry calls, transporting officers and prisoners to and from the courts, and the like. The car was purchased in 1911 and has just been replaced by a 1913 Cadillac.

The total of 74,000 miles is a remarkable record, for the average distance a motor car travels each year is not much more than 7000 miles. The grand total of 74,000 is nearly three times around the globe. Yet this police car did its work night and day, irrespective of time or weather, and over some of the worst roads the city possesses. Moreover, as it was used for police service, quick action was necessary and therefore it was impossible on many occasions to return for a second or third load. Consequently it was a common practice to load this car with a dozen and even as many as sixteen people.

In spite of the number carried, the roads traveled and the distance covered the car is still in good condition and, after being somewhat rebuilt, will be sold at a good price with a guarantee back of it.

NO HARD TIMES HERE.

"A man who is fearing hard times in California should take a swing around the loop I have just made out of San Francisco and he would surely become an optimist," says A. P. Karbach of the Reliance Automobile Company, agents for the Knox cars and Dart Motor Truck.

"The last week I had visited Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Napa, Woodland, Suisun, Dixon and Sacramento. And the reports from this section is that the fruit crop this season will be phenomenal."

"At Lodi already they have shipped 1200 more cars of fruit than was shipped the whole of last season. Around Sacramento the same reports are prevailing. The farmer is going to have a nice balance in the bank at the end of the season. This is going to be one of the best selling seasons in this section for automobiles. The farmers are merely waiting to realize on the crops to purchase.

"I spent considerable time among the farmers and was surprised to learn how well informed they were upon the modern day models. Technically I consider them better up on motor car construction than the average city man. They know what they are talking about and it is a poor showing that the salesman will make in dealing with them who is not thoroughly acquainted with the car that he is selling."

PROSECUTOR IS SCORED BY MAYOR

Gaynor Issues Scathing Rebuke Against Whitman.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Mayor Gaynor issued another statement yesterday, criticising District Attorney Whitman for siding against the police in the 1 o'clock curfew crusade on the restaurants.

"The district attorney," says the statement, "instigated this open and forcible resistance to the police. On Wednesday night he went to Healy's with a retinue of trained and brilliant writers to write him up and of flashlight photographers to take his picture in heroic attitude, and at 1 o'clock in the morning joined a mob which had been collected by concert to forcibly resist the police in doing their plain duty.

"If he thought the way the police were [illegible] plain duty to so advise the mayor or police commissioner. Instead, the police find him in the midst of and siding with a disorderly crowd.

"I don't work as mayor through press agents and writers who can be easily obtained to falsify and puff. I have gone on, trying to leave this city and this government some better when I quit at the end of my term. I now call on decent people of this city to see to it that the police are not thwarted in this matter by the [illegible] gluttons and revelers.

"Let me add that on full inquiry I find that the police used no unnecessary force but behaved with discretion, patience and even forbearance."

MEAT PRICES TO TAKE ADVANCE

Drought in America and Argentine Disease Are Chief Causes.

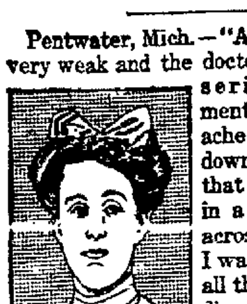
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Sharp increases in the prices of fresh beef are expected to follow the drought that is scorching the cattle growing states of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Oklahoma and officials of the department of agriculture are not concealing their anxiety over the outlook. Their apprehension is increased by unfavorable reports said to have been received from agents now in South America concerning the condition of the cattle there.

In anticipation of the increased meat imports that would follow the passage of the new tariff measure, Dr. A. B. Melvin was sent by the department to South America to observe the manner in which cattle was slaughtered and meat packed in those countries. He is said to have reported that a serious hoof and mouth epidemic is raging in Argentina, the principal meat growing country of South America, and this necessarily would bar the entrance of such meat to the United States.

Australia, in the event of serious shortage, is exepected to furnish much of the meat consumed by Americans in the immediate future. This supply may be limited, however, because of Great Britain's demands if Argentina fails her market.

TROOPS RESTORE QUIET; RIOTING IS NOW OVER

LONDONDERRY, Aug. 16—As a result of troops having been called out to suppress the rioting between the Orangemen and Nationalists, which had been proceeding for several days, Londonderry was quiet last night. There were several isolated cases of firearms being discharged, however, and a bullet from a revolver slightly injured a policeman.



WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says:

Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night.

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured.

"You may publish this if you wish."—Miss CLARA L. GAUWITZ, R.R. No. 4, Box 62, Peoria, Ill.

Such letters prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for woman's ills. Why don't you try it?
